Trip From New York To Bermuda Is Finally Completed By Fliers

GRUNDY'S WORK IS DONE IN SENATE, IN ROGERS' OPINION

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal.,
April 2.—It looks like my friend Jim Davis is going to beat Uncle Joe Grundy for his seat in the senate.

WILL ROGERS

Uncle Joe
don't care, staying in there after the tariff is over would be like a burglar remaining in bank after he had already sent all the loot out.

Each state is allowed two statues in the Capitol Hall of Fame. The old Keystone State put William Penn in there for what he took away from the Indians for Pennsylvania.

Now Grundy gets the other statue for what he has taken away from the white people for Pennsylvania.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PA NEW OBSERVES

B. N. Hanlon, secretary of the New Castle Motor Club today received a box of fine fruit from Miami, Fla., which was sent him by Joe Norris, who has been in the southland for the past month. The gift was much appreciated by Mr. Hanlon.

When the census enumerator calls at your door during the next few days and says "Census," don't tell him you don't want any, because that is not the correct answer.

Earl rises this morning noticed a light skiff of snow on the ground, which was soon dispelled by the warm sunshine.

If it were not for salaries, the cost of running the public schools of New Castle would not cost so much. According to the budget estimate for the coming year, salaries of teachers, janitors and other school help totals $759,537.00, making it one of the biggest industries in the city.

Uncle Sam, who keeps a close check on things estimates that the 1929 population of New Castle is 40,000 persons. This does not include the number in the townships immediately outside the city, which would bring the population of the city up around 55,000, which is the figure of local authorities.

Pennsylvania Railroad folk, from the central, western and eastern regions and the New York zone, will descend upon New Castle in train-loads on Friday for the annual System boxing and wrestling meet at Jolly bowl. Indications point to the largest crowd that has ever packed the local show-house and those in charge announce that a most attractive card of events has been prepared for that night.

Horns are sounding and violins and clarinets are being played more frequently in the senior and junior high schools of the city since the annual Northwestern Pennsylvania Interscholastic Music contest, to be held at the Cathedral this year, is but a little more than three weeks away.
April 23 is the date.

Health authorities report the health of the county in excellent shape. As is always the case some sickness prevails in different parts, but on the whole the record is a clean one.

And speaking of the contest, which promises to bring 3,000 school students here for the one day competition, both April and May will be busy months. Probably 400 members of Pennsylvania's Lions' clubs will at-

Bermuda Fliers Are Successful, Reach Hamilton

Three Intrepid New York Airmen Have Barely Enough Gasoline To Make Landing

FORCED TO LAND
DURING NIGHT

Dangerous New York To Bermuda Flight Is Ended For Yancey And His Companions

(International News Service)
HAMILTON, Bermuda, April 2.—The New York-Bermuda plane "Pilot" commanded by Lewis A. Yancey, landed here safely at 10:30 o'clock (9:30 a. m. Eastern Standard Time.)
The plane had come in from its place of forced landing about sixty miles northwest of Bermuda, where it was obliged to come down last night because of darkness.

Captain Yancey and his fellow fliers had barely sufficient gasoline to reach the harbor here, and considered themselves fortunate to make a safe landing.
First sight of the pontoon-equipped plane in the sky off the local harbor brought a wave of relief to the citizens of Hamilton, which had been on the quiver since early yesterday afternoon. Knowledge that they had hopped off from their overnight camp on the smooth surface of the Atlantic at 5:30 o'clock (4:30 eastern standard time), caused some apprehension for their safety when they failed to arrive here within an hour.
It was feared that they might have overshot the island.

Gas Runs Low
Lack of gasoline had cheated Captain Yancey and his two companions from reaching Hamilton harbor direct from their overnight ocean "camp."
They were forced to land first at Murray's anchorage, about nine miles Hamilton harbor, because of their fuel supply being depleted.

The "Pilot" skimmed down on the water at Murray's anchorage at 8:30
a. m. Bermuda time (7:30 a. m. eastern standard time). They apparently encountered considerable difficulty in obtaining fuel, for it was a full two hours before they reached Hamilton harbor from the anchorage less than ten miles away.

Details of the difficulties encountered by the airmen were not learned until after their arrival here. Hamilton had been in a state of suspense for hours. As it was known Yancey

Japanese Accept Tonnage Proposal

Naval Conference Appears To Have Found Avenue To Success At Last

FRENCH SECURITY
MAY BE ACCORDED

By HARRY R. FLORY

LONDON, April 2.—The naval conference appeared today to have found an avenue to success.

The Tokyo government's cable acceptance of Anglo-American tonnage proposals gave impetus to the negotiations between other delegations and there were indications that the more serious problems of the conference were nearing solution.

Acceptance of these proposals by the Japanese makes certain accord between the three leading powers, Britain, Japan and the United States and regardless of whether a five power pact is written a tri-partite agreement is possible.

Believe Accord Near

Yet the security requirements of France, the big obstacle to the five-power pact, may be satisfied through interpretations placed on article sixteen, of the league covenant and agreed upon in principle by England and France.

This interpretation, while meeting the needs of France, if accommodated, as they wish, to the Kellogg treaty terms, will not involve Britain in any further military commitments.
The Italian leader, Dino Grandi, has signified the willingness of his country to accept such an accord.

Homes In New Castle And Lawrence County To Be Visited

Information Secured To Be Kept In Strict Confidence By Workers

Census enumerators in New Castle and throughout the entire nation started the task of knocking at the front doors of something like 30 million homes, in search of information desired by Uncle Sam in compiling the decennial census.

The job got under way with a minimum amount of confusion here.
Census Supervisor Orville Brown stated and the workers started out with the hope of clearing up the task in the next two weeks.

In addition to counting the population of the nation, a large quantity of other valuable information will be collected, and the strain of producing this information will fall upon the "woman in the home," Mr. Brown states.

To this all-important person, Mr.
Brown addresses an appeal to inform herself of all the important facts necessary in securing the information which must be furnished the census enumerator. The "woman of the house" will in many cases, be the only

Lila Jimerson Is Quite Sick

Buffalo Judge Postpones
Trial Until Afternoon—
Indian Girl's Con-

MAY GET SECOND DEGREE VERDICT

COURT ROOM, BUFFALO, April 2.— Lila Jimerson, Indian girl on trial for the hammer slaying of Mrs. Clothilde Marchand, was too ill to appear in court this morning and the case was again delayed when Judge F. Bret Thorn granted an adjournment until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Lila, who collapsed in the court room yesterday morning, is in City hospital, where her condition is said to be serious.

While the greatest secrecy surrounded the next move in the trial it was learned by International News Service her attorneys have had under consideration asking her to plead guilty of murder in the second degree.
Thus she would automatically escape the possibility of death in the electric chair.

Second Degree Murder.

Although the lawyers themselves would not discuss the situation, it was learned from an unimpeachable source that District Attorney Guy B. Moore indicated to one of the attorneys for the defense that he would accept the lesser plea—that is, guilty of murder in the second degree. Lila is on trial for murder in the first degree. The defense attorney countered by suggesting she might plead guilty to manslaughter. The district attorney turned this suggestion down.

Second degree murder is punishable by imprisonment from 20 years to life.
Manslaughter is punishable by a term of 20 years or less. If the state succeeded in convicting Lila of first degree murder her punishment would be death in the electric chair.

Hoover Refuses To Out Huston Under Pressure

President Hoover Decides To Adopt Hands-Off Policy In Regard To Huston

IS UP TO G. O. P.
LEADERS TO ACT

In Face Of Coming Primaries
And Unsettled Conditions Dismissal Would Be Unwise

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

WASHINGTON, April 2.—After two weeks of hectic maneuvering on the part of Republican leaders and much conferring at the White House, Clau-dus H. Huston is still chairman of the Republican national committee and he will remain in that post, it was authoritatively reported today, until such time as he can "retire with dignity."

Appeals from party leaders to the president to take direct action for removal of the Republican chairman have come to naught. After some days of hesitation, during which it is understood Mr. Hoover was considering taking the advice of party chieftains, he has at last decided to keep hands off.

Is Up To Leaders.
The president is said to take the position that if the party leaders want to behold Chairman Huston for his lobbying and other activities, it is up to them, not to him, to do it. The approaching campaign after all, it has been pointed out, means more to them than it does to the White House.

To this the retort of party leaders has been that President Hoover personally selected Huston for the chairmanship after the retirement of Dr.
Hubert Work, and if he is to be removed the White House should do it.
Huston, these leaders have urged, was not the committee's choice for the chairmanship. Mr. Hoover indicated he wanted the Tennessee appointed and the committee obligingly acquiesced.

The inner Republican row over whether Huston will go or stay has

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., April 2.—
Continuing his coast to coast glider flight, Captain Frank Hawk hopped off from the Wichita Falls airport at 10:45 o'clock this morning for Okla-

In tow of an airplane piloted by J.

after casting loose his tow rope and soaring above the airport for 20 min-

Minor repairs were made to the glider before it continued to Okla-

Stimson Receives Japanese Reply

(International News Service)
LONDON, April 2.—Japan's reply to the Reed-Matsudaira Naval compromise proposals was formally handed to Secretary of State Stimson this afternoon at St. James's Palace, and was immediately pronounced "satisfactorily" by the American delegates.

"Some minor details must be discussed and adjustments made, but no changes in the figures will be required," a spokesman for the American delegation said.

The Japanese reply was handed to Secretary Stimson at a meeting of the heads of the Japanese, British and American delegations. The meeting lasted for more than an hour.

Man Found Slain; Head Is Missing

Pittsburgh Officials Stirred
By Second Headless Murder Case In Seven Weeks

SEARCH STARTS
FOR MAN'S HEAD

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, April 2.—With only meagre clues left by careful killers to work upon, city and county detectives today centered their first efforts upon establishing the identity of Pittsburgh's second headless murder victim in the last seven years.

Two sections of an afternoon newspaper of last Monday, several soiled potato sacks and an ordinary produce barrel were the sole clues in the possession of police.

The decapitated body of the victim was found crammed tightly in the wrecked body of a car in the yard of yesterday. The head was missing, strips of flesh had been slashed from his arms which were believed to have borne tattoo marks and the clothing also had been stripped from the body to hinder identification.

Search For Head

A detail of detectives was assigned today to search through the railroad produce yards near where the body was found. It was believed possible that the head of the victim might have been tossed into a freight car of a train pulling out of the city.

An autopsy disclosed the man had been dead about 24 hours, while no clues yet have been uncovered to belong to such a theory, it was intimated that the man, who was about 30 years old, had been killed in reprisals for the recent gang slaying of Sam Monastero, bootleg racketeer.

Finding of the headless victim recalls the murder of Charles M. Mc-Gregor of Kittanning, whose decapitated body was found October 3, 1923, in the dressing room of a municipal swimming pool at the foot of south sixteenth street. McGregor's identity was established by the finding of his head a short distance from the dressing room.

A finecomb search through the woods along Grine run, Penn. township, was to resume today. Search for the victim's head was cut short by darkness last night.

President Hoover Has Census Taken

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 2.—President Hoover had his census taken today. It was done in the south grounds of the White House in front of the movie cameras as the executive's contribution to the drive to impress upon the nation the importance of the decennial enumeration.

J. Stirling Morgan, census supervisor for the district, asked the questions and filled out the blank, while Secretary of Commerce Lamont supervised the job.

Wheeling Court Gives Donnie To Sister Of Irene

Mrs. Martha Schoenian Is Given Temporary Custody Of Boy

CAN ADOPT HIM WITHIN 90 DAYS

Must Secure Permission Of Parents—Donnie Attracts Throng

Under an order of Judge
Joseph S. Ritz of Wheeling,
W. Va., little Donnie Schroeder has been given a home, temporary as yet, but one that probably will become permanent. The youngster has been placed in the custody of Mrs.
Martha Schoenian and her husband, Victor, of 4230 Jacobs street, Wheeling, W.
Va. Mrs. Schoenian is a sister of Mrs. Irene Schroeder, Robert L. Frazier is appointed guardian ad litem.

Donnie was taken to Wheeling Tuesday afternoon by Probation Officer and Mrs. Jack Dunlap and the hearing before Judge Ritz held this morning. Joseph Crawford, the grandfather did not appear, the only ones in the court room being the sisters of Irene. Ohio County accepted jurisdiction of the boy before the hearing and Judge Ritz then heard the request of the sisters.

Father Not Present

Homer Schroeder the father of the boy was not present. The petition for disposition of the boy was presented to the court by G. B. Pelby, Probation Officer of Ohio County.
West Virginia, and in his order, Judge Ritz made it plain that Mrs. Schoe-nian was to have but temporary custody of the boy, the time being set at ninety days.

At the end of the ninety days, if she gets the consent of Irene Schroeder and Homer Schroeder, Mrs.
Schoenian can legally adopt the boy.
She has already filed a petition in adoption, and it is understood that the consent of Irene Schroeder has been received. The only thing remaining is to get the consent of the father, Homer Schroeder, who is said to be in Amarillo, Texas. He was represented in court today by Henry Schroeder, his brother, who asked that the court send the boy to the father. This was refused.

"I want to go to Aunt Ruby's in Bellaire," Donnie said when brought into court. "That's where all my toys are." He referred to Mrs. Ray Schroeder, another aunt, who it was assumed would be given charge of the boy. It was at this home that Donnie was found on December 31, 1929, by Chief of Police Francis Moran of Bellaire.

Says Goodbye

Donnie said goodbye to his mother and Glen Dague Tuesday afternoon in the Lawrence County jail. There were no tears, no affectionate farewells, and of the two Dague seemed more affected than did Irene.

Dressed in a cute little top coat and cap, Donnie rushed into his mother's cell a few minutes before

The thrill of exploration makes explorers of us all, for adventure, travel, cl. romance, has a most entrancing call. Seas where white combed breakers gather, lands where strange folks have their home, all of them appeal and beckon, they inspire us to roam.
But adventure is not roaming, you may find it at your side, in the books you read and papers, there sometimes adventures hide. And I know a new explorer and he's waiting quite a fight, as he delves into the mysteries as his pencil tries to write. Letters, names and streets and numbers, all of them are hid away in the land he

U. S. Newspapers More Progressive

Visiting Journalist Says American Papers Better Than Foreign

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, April 2.—"American papers are more progressive," So Dr. Wilhelm Girardet, 27, youthful German newspaper publisher expressed himself today when asked to comment on the relative merits of European and American publications.
Girardet has just completed a tour of the United States in which he surveyed practically all of the big newspaper plants. He is sailing soon for Japan to inspect newspaper methods in the Orient.

"Both in news-gathering and in business methods, American newspapers are more progressive than those of the continent," said Girardet.
"Your papers are designed to get the news on the street as quickly as possible. You use three or four times as many reporters as we and your editorials are reduced to admirably simple terms."

Warren, Ohio, Man Composes Anthem As Official Song

D. Rhys Ford, Warren, O., Com-

Of Ohio Official Song

(International News Service)
WARREN, O., April 2.—D. Rhys
Ford, music composer and critic, of Warren, today hoped to give Ohio its official state song.

A three verse composition, "Sing on, Ohio," written by him, was to be one of the selections offered before Governor Myer V. Cooper next Friday when the Warren high school Glee Club appears before the state executive. The Governor may choose the song as the state anthem.

Boy Caught While Causing Damage

Admits Having Stolen Number Of Articles Found In His Possession

Police were notified last night that three boys were cutting and mutilating the walls in the toilet of the Nixon Theatre, which was only recently remodeled and rebuilt.

Officers Dukes answered the call and apprehended one of the boys, who gave the name of Walter Zavada and his age ten years. He claimed to be from Youngstown. The other boys managed to escape before the officer had an opportunity of getting them.

When the boy was searched, a flashlight, a penknife, a comb, a fountain pen and a dollar were found in his possession. He admitted to the police that he had stolen the flashlight in Youngstown and the pen-knife in a store here. He claimed the money had been given him by one of the other boys. Today, he claimed he was from 414 Literary street, Cleveland, O. The Youngstown authorities were notified and are coming here to determine whether or not he is the boy wanted over there.

The boys who got away according to the boy in custody are: Steve Vontrova, aged 13 and George Hanas, aged 11, of Youngstown.

Young People Will Attend Service

Notwithstanding the inclement weather of Tuesday evening, a full auditorium greeted Rev. Margaret Joshua when she brought the message at the revival services being held nightly in the Croton avenue Methodist Episcopal church. Her subject was "The Greatest Word in the English Language," and a splendid discourse was delivered to an attentive audience.

This evening the young people's night will be observed, the various Epworth Leagues of the city attending in a body. Her sermon theme this evening is "Education Plus."

and his companions resumed their interrupted flight from a point about sixty miles north of here shortly before 6 o'clock this morning.

Lack of communication facilities was responsible for the delay in reaching here that the airmen had been forced down a second time at Murray's anchorage.

From all indications, the fliers had a narrow escape on the second leg of the flight, as they apparently just made the anchorage with the last drop of gasoline in the plane's tank.
The Stinson monoplane was set down some distance off the shore and it apparently was not for some time until residents of St. George's, the nearest village, became aware of their plight.

Additional fuel was then rushed out aboard a motorboat and the tank replenished. After thanking their helpers for their timely aid, Yancy and his companions again took off for Hamilton harbor. The last nine miles of the journey were without incident.

he was taken away. "Goodbye Donnie" was Irene's reply and later she called to him as he left the jail, "kiss grandpa for me."

Down on the first floor the meeting between Dague and Donnie was more emotional than was the one between the mother and the boy. "Have you got a kiss for me?" asked Dague.
Donnie kissed him and Dague said,
"Don't forget to be a good boy Donnie." Dague's eyes filled with tears as he kissed the little lad goodbye.
Clutched in his hands Donnie had some mementos of his visit here. His mother had given him a simple white handkerchief, he had a toy bank with coins in it, and somewhere he had gotten a tulip. This he guarded as though it were gold.

Will Have Companion
One of the things that decided Judge Ritz in placing Donnie with Mrs. Schoenian may have been the fact that she has a little lad five years of age, who will be a companion for the boy. Mrs. Schoenian had Donnie once before a year and a half and his going back there will be like going home.

The court room was crowded this morning for the hearing. Represent-

Attorney A. C. Schiffer, his assistant Fred L. Brinkman, George Pellier, Probation Officer, Robert L. Frazler, Truant Officer and Lionel Nightengale, clerk of court.

Donnie was the center of attraction in the hotel and in the court room.
Hundreds of curious people crowded about to see him and commented upon the clean, neat appearance of him.
This can be accounted for by the care he has received at the hands of Probation Officer and Mrs. Jack Dunlap.
He was taken into the Juvenile Home here and treated not as an inmate but as one might expect a

DRYS CLOSE CASE BEFORE COMMITTEE

realt; E. C. Dinwiddie of the Anderson League; E. L. Crawford, representing Bishop James Vannon, Jr., E. H. Cherrington of the World League Against Alcoholism, and others.

These statements all upheld prohibition, extolled its merits, and recommended various measures for tightening up enforcement and making the operation of the law more drastic.

Endorse Program.

The dry organization heads endorsed fully the Wickersham law enforcement commission's program to better prohibition enforcement.

This included the transfer of enforcement to the justice department, unified border patrol and the so-called "jurisdiction" bill to give federal court commissioners jurisdiction of minor cases. It carried also amendment of the Jones law defining minor offenses.

McBride declared that President Hoover had said more about prohibition on the day of his inauguration when he called upon the people of the country to observe the law, than any president since the 18th amendment.

"This administration stands four square for enforcement of the prohibition law," he said.

Chase declared the Volstead law "is weak and full of loop holes" and called on congress to prohibit manufacture of liquor in the home.

"The Volstead law has made the home the safest place where intoxicating beverages can be manufactured and sold, provided the sale is actually made in the home," he said.

Bootleggers, he asserted, have used the constitutional guarantee against unreasonable search and seizure to screen their liquor making activities.

Backs Howell Bill.

Chase backed the bill of Senator Howell (R) of Nebraska, permitting issuance of a search warrant for private dwellings if it is shown that liquor is made or sold. Attorney General Mitchell has opposed this bill.

Chase also urged congress to launch an investigation "in those cities where immense graft is commonly believed to exist and where defiance of prohibition is most flagrant."

Debs Pickett, representing Dr. Claurence True Wilson, declared that most of the ills of prohibition enforcement are due to the opposition of wets. He called upon them "to cease selective disloyalty." The Methodist church, Pickett said, holds that the liquor traffic cannot be legalized without sin.

"If smugglers and bootleggers or yachtmen and high society people openly rebel against the prohibition law they must be treated exactly as rebels against any other law," said Crawford.

No Possibility of Repeal.

"Rebels against government must be treated as rebels and be made to understand that even though they did not like the prohibition law they cannot defy the government of the United

Dinwiddie declared there is no possibility of repeal of the 18th amendment in the near future and the wets might as well join with drys to enforce it.

The committee will meet again in two weeks to give the wets a chance to present rebuttal testimony.

person in the family with whom the Census Bureau will establish contact.
Strict Confidence

All the information given the census enumerator will be held in the strictest confidence, and the enumerator is under oath not to reveal it to anyone, and is subject to legal penalties if he does so, so persons need not hesitate about furnishing them with the information asked for.

That census figures must be accurate before they are valuable, goes without saying. Not only must they be accurate, but the public must be convinced of this fact. Manufacturing establishments looking for locations must be able to accept the Federal census figures without question.
Representation in Congress must be based on statistics about which there is no suspicion. If the aim of the Census Bureau is to be achieved, all this information must be accurate to the smallest detail.

Therefore, if the woman in the home and the census enumerator meet in a spirit of whole-hearted cooperation, the success of the 1930 census will be assured, Mr. Brown stated.

All the various questions to be asked by the enumerator have been outlined well in advance through publicity which has been furnished over the past month by the Census Bureau, so local people should be well informed of what questions are to be asked and should readily know the answer.

In practically every instance, the enumerator appointed were at their task this morning, visiting the various districts which had been assigned to them, and the great job can well be said to have gotten away to an auspicious start.

Information as to the local population will be furnished the public by Supervisor Brown as soon as the returns have been tabulated, so the sooner this information will be available to the public.

Don't neglect a COLD
DISTRESSING cold in chest or throat—that often leads to something serious—generally responds to good old Musterole with the first application. Should be more effective if used once every hour for five hours.

Working like the trained hands of a masseur, this famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other helpful ingredients brings relief naturally. It penetrates and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain. Used by millions for 20 years. Recommended by doctors and nurses. Keep Musterole handy—jars and tubes.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

A. B. D. GIRLS HAVE PROGRAM

Members of the A. B. D. Girls were received in the home of Mrs. Robert Garland, Edgewood avenue, Tuesday evening, for their regular session, with Mrs. Leah Rugh, Mrs. Eleanor Foster and Mrs. Dorothy McNab as joint hostesses.

The devotional period was conducted by Jessie Wilson; and Frances Maxwell ably discussed "Current Events" bringing forward some of the most important subjects of the day. Mrs. Nell Rice, gave a paper on "Africa" while Mrs. Shoaf read an interesting paper on "The American Negro."

At the conclusion of the program a delicious lunch was served by the hostesses.

TUESDAY EVENING BRIDGE CLUB MEETS

Miss Della Absalom, of Almira Ave. was a delightful hostess to members of the Tuesday Evening Bridge club when they gathered at her home on Tuesday for their regular meeting.

Cards featured the social period, with prizes being awarded to Mrs. Harry Carlson and Mrs. Bert Parker for honors. At a selected hour, the hostess served a delicious lunch assisted by Mrs. Lewis Dean.

In two weeks the club will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Herbert Samuels on Carlisle street.

Banquet Winners
A banquet was held in the Second United Presbyterian church Tuesday evening, when the winners in the contest that has been in vogue for some time which came to a close Sunday evening, were honored at a dinner banquet given by the losers, as agreed in the beginning.

After the menu was served, a business session was called when the annual election of officers took place. Those holding office include the following: Janet Randles, president; Martha Hannon, vice-president; Alberta Brenner, secretary; and Ray Ziegler, treasurer.

A social time spent informally in games brought the gathering to a close.

Entertains for Sister.
Miss Wenona Lowers, State street, entertained a group of friends Monday evening in her home in honor of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Arthur Lowers, in celebration of her birthday.

Music, dancing and games were the diversions of the evening and the honor guest was presented with many lovely gifts.

Pink and white appointments were carried out in the lunch decoration when the hostess and her mother, Mrs. C. E. Lowers, served a dainty repast.

THERE IS NO FOUNDATION OF YOUTH

FEW persons reach old age without regrets for their lost youth. Ponce de Leon is a type of the eternal aspiration. But actual rejuvenation, as Dr. Morris Fishbein, a noted authority, tells us, is a scientific impossibility.

What modern medicine tries to do is to combat the so-called degenerative diseases to which those who have passed fifty are normally subject. If the span of human life is generally longer than it used to be the reason is mainly to be found in a better knowledge of hygiene.

In spite of the increased pace of human activities, the conditions of existence have materially improved. The hardships that break down the body are fewer and the epidemics that once, in Dr. Fishbein's words, "swept the world and wrought awful havoc among those of early years have been defeated by science." Thus the Black Death of the Middle Ages has become only a grisly memory.

Readers of history cannot fail to be aware of the fact that the expectation of life has greatly increased. It is surprising to find how many the conspicuous figures of a few centuries ago were old at forty or fifty and died in what we now consider the prime of life. But length of years cannot be induced by any process of rejuvenation. There is, as Dr. Fishbein says, no panacea for that. The work of nature in the human body cannot be stayed. Why some persons live much longer than others is perhaps still a mystery; the popular explanation of "a good constitution" may be as logical as any, though in reality it is no explanation at all.

Nor are modernization and freedom from worry infallible remedies. Most men find that they can endure more than would once have seemed to them possible. Has the triumph of mind over matter something to do with it? The will to live is not to be disregarded as a factor in the problem.

APPEAL OF BEAUTY

Raymond M. Hood, noted architect, is quoted as saying that among all the arts, including architecture, painting, sculpture, furniture design and the like, highest standards have been attained in automobile design.

No one will quarrel with him over that point, but the loudest amens will come from the owners of models 12 months old or older. While the remarkable progress made in automobile design is demonstrated on every street every day, it can best be appreciated by the driver of a car of a discarded design.

The automobile has become, besides an absolute necessity and a tremendous promoter of comfort, well-being and prosperity, a thing of genuine artistic merit. And Mr. Hood makes clear the reason.

It was because the automobile designers were not tricked into seeking beauty just for the sake of it. They made use and service the primary objectives and enlisted beauty to enhance it.

That an architect would be the first to discover this was inevitable, for architecture usually demands a reason for the existence of every element in construction, adornment alone not sufficing.

Improvements in design account for countless sales every year, just as mechanical advances do. The car owner who buys a new car every year or two is actuated as much by changes in body design as by mechanical innovations and the desire to have a new car.

A TITULAR CHANGE TO HONOR TAFT

Far from being without merit is the movement already announced to rename Washington's Connecticut avenue bridge across Rock Creek Valley in honor of William Howard Taft, late chief justice and ex-president. The Women's City Club, sponsor of the idea, has already adopted resolutions to submit such proposal to the proper authorities, and the district commissioners have expressed their "heartly sympathy" with the plan.

True, this great viaduct was not begun during the presidential term of Taft, nor is there any direct official connection between the man and the structure. None the less, it is definitely associated in the minds of the local public with his personality. He resided not far from its southern terminus. It was a favorite walking place of his. Many a motorist headed homeward in the late afternoon was cheered by the sight of his beloved ample figure, characteristic gait and placid smile, as, enjoying the sunset glow, he strolled along one of the footways, or stopped to chat with the children, all of whom he loved.

"The Connecticut Avenue Bridge" is a mouth-filling title. "The Million Dollar Bridge" is a most repellent one. More than two decades ago a million dollars was a good deal more impressive than it is today and the title, in poor taste to begin with, has become thereby weakened. "The Taft Bridge" is short and, in many senses, to the point. It is one of the more impressive structures in and around the national capital. It needs a better name. Mr. Taft deserves an immediate memorial.—The Washington Sunday Star.

MARRYING FOR LOVE

If marrying for love is now admitted to be the proper thing in royal families, perhaps other families, not royal, will consider it proper sometimes. Often the wisdom of the parents prevents the precipitate union of two thoughtless young people, who forget all the practical complexities of life in the preeminence of their one absorbing eagerness to wed one another, thus as it were, guarding against any possibility of losing such a treasury of affection. Parents, however, as a rule, believe more concrete resources are essential. "Marriage for love does not offer the same guarantee as marriage for other more substantial motives," they say.

Well, marriage for love offers at least the greatest of assurances, that of pure affection. A life not lavishly enriched with worldly goods may not be so gay in some respects—we may feel safer when we have made a "good catch" peculiarly—but even if life is a little more rigorous and difficult when we marry for love, and even if the union does not fulfill all the glowing hopes expected of it, nevertheless there always remain beautiful memories of such a marriage, memories rarely hovering about the wreckage of a marriage of convenience.

Nobility and riches are not essential ingredients of connubial bliss, nor are they guarantees of it.

The idealist has one advantage over the materialist. Material isn't worth much when the doctor says it's just a matter of hours.

If you like nastiness, you're lowbrow; if you like naughtiness, you're highbrow; if you like virtue, you're just middle class.

One Business Morning.
 Two Billions of Oil.
 Earth's Deepest Well.
 Mule Wagon to Airplane.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
 (Copyright, 1930, King Features Syn., Inc.)

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., April 1.—Kenneth R. Kingsbury, president of the Standard Oil Company of California, landed there at 11 yesterday morning, having spent an American business morning, inspecting Kettleman Hills and other oil country. Starting by air, from Fresno, at 9 in the morning, flying about 100 miles an hour in one of the company's fleet of three-engine Ford planes, Mr. Kingsbury flew over 10,000 oil wells, more or less, including one of his own wells at Taft, now 9,500 feet down, going lower every day and already the deepest well in the world.

Contrast modern with ancient business methods. Half a century ago, the late Senator George Hearst traveled over this kind of country, hunting for gold and copper mines, in a wagon without springs, by horses or mules, dragged over narrow Indian trails. It was slow, but he found his mines, both kinds, Anaconda, for copper. Homestake, for gold, and others.

A modern oil man's morning is different from L'APRES MIDI D'UN FAUNE if you happen to know what that is. The plane starts from the Fresno field, A. R. French, pilot; R. S. Allen, co-pilot in the cockpit. G. M. Cunningham, Standard Oil geologist, sits beside the oil president, with elaborate maps, showing topographically, the oil region surface, and theoretically, what lies beneath.

If you own S. O. of California stock one is interested generally in America's wealth, that territory, spreading out three thousand feet below the metal monoplane, interests you. When Standard Oil bought Pacific Oil, it acquired, among other things, these thousands of acres of Kettleman Hill oil lands, that once belonged to E. H. Harriman and the Southern Pacific Railroad.

Standard's Kettleman Hills lands alone are believed to hold at least two thousand million dollars' worth of oil. And two billions are worth while, even to Standard Oil.

The young geologist points out to his president some likely "domes," outside the proved oil region, but within Standard's territory, a "dome" containing oil and gas, is like a tea-cup turned upside down. A crowd of in of rock on all sides lifts the dome. The oil and gas accumulate there, waiting millions of years for Mr. Rockefeller to come along and find them.

Photographs brought by Mr. Cunningham, taken in a few hours' flight, tell the trained geologist more than he could possibly learn in years of patient prospecting on the surface. On foot, he sees only square miles of land; in air, he sees and photographs square miles of it. Even a novice can trace the ridges, forming inverted cups, domes that hold the precious oil. With airplane, science may map the earth, locate and estimate its treasure of oil, water, forest and fertile lands, within a few years.

Of that Kettleman Oil region, richest known on earth, Uncle Sam owns half. Standard Oil of California the other half. And Californians, looking down on their treasure of lands, may thank Heaven for an occasional earthquake. Forces that make the earth quake also squeeze the rock into cup-shaped ridges, forming domes in which are stored, for California's future use and enrichment, tens of billions of dollars' worth of oil.

It is no game for a poor man, getting the high-grade oil, from great depth. A deep well costs about three hundred thousand dollars and sometimes, in territory not proved, nothing comes. Wells upon which Mr. Kingsbury looks down, asking questions, making notes, yield about four thousand barrels daily. The oil gushes forth, driven upward by the gas and it is marvelous high gravity oil, almost pure gasoline. You may use it to run your motor, as it comes out of the earth, as it is worth $1.55 a barrel at the well, compared with sixty cents or less for common oil.

A well in Kettleman Hills costs about $300,000 to drill. Under fair conditions, it yields 4,000 barrels daily. In fifty days it has paid for itself with interest thereafter. It yields more than six thousands dollars a day profit. Not a bad business, if you understand it, with much exciting uncertainty. The young geologist can express no opinion concerning that deepest well, already down nine thousand five hundred feet. It may yield nothing, but probably will produce millions of barrels. Never having worked at such depths, geologists say prediction is dangerous.

There is terrible waste in our squandering of oil resources. Competitive drilling, unnecessary number of wells might be avoided by co-operation under government direction. In the Santa Fe Springs oil region, about Los Angeles, at least one hundred million dollars might have been (Continued On Page Five)

It may send his thoughts along paths of new endeavors and ambitions.—Anonymous.

Evidently it doesn't pay to be too nice—or at any rate to seem too nice. There is a boy here in town who is good looking, very smart and uniformly polite. Any stranger would think him a fine kid. And yet I have yet to hear him mentioned by a man or woman who doesn't hate him—not merely dislike him, but fervently hate him and long to wring his infernal neck. He doesn't prove the point, however, for everybody knows his angelic exterior conceals a dirty little sneak. But there is a man here somewhat like him—a pleasant spoken, very polite, sensible, well-behaved chap who works hard and harms nobody. Nobody seems to have a thing against him, and yet I have yet to hear anybody express a liking for him. Evidently people think no man can be as good as this one seems. Goodness is an asset and decency is essential, but apparently you must raise a little hell just to seem human if you wish to be liked.

We note with regret in a way the retirement from active service on the Pennsylvania railroad of our good old life long friend Harry Alexander. Few men of our knowledge have gone through a busy and useful life as quietly as has Harry Alexander. Those who know him best know of his wonderful activities. We are glad he is relieved of the great responsibilities of his position and that he is to enjoy a well earned rest. Retirement does not mean unfitness. It means those who attain that honor have fulfilled all the duties required by the employer and as a reward are pensioned and retired. Daily Editorial Digest

Synopsis of Editorial Views By Newspapers of Nation on Important Subjects as Edited by Consolidated Press Association

Selection Of Judge Parker
Raises Only One Major Issue

Injunction In Labor Dispute Is Debated But Fitness Of North Carolina Appointee Is Subject Of General Commendation

Only one issue has been raised in connection with the appointment of Judge John J. Parker of North Carolina by President Hoover as a member of the United States supreme court. That issue relates to an injunction in a West Virginia mining controversy, in which Judge Parker, in the circuit court in 1927, ruled against the violation of contracts between employers and individual employees. While this point is being debated, many newspapers of North and South, Democratic and Republican, uphold his fitness for the higher post. Taking up the labor question, the ROANOKE WORLD-NEWS points out that, while it has been represented that union members would oppose Judge Parker, "the appointment has the approval of labor in Judge Parker's home state, and is especially approved by the state president of the Federation of Labor of North Carolina." The World-News also states: "It is not questioned that the injunction in the West Virginia case, sustained by the circuit court of appeals of which Judge Parker was a member, terminated mine warfare there with defeat for the miners. But before it can be concluded that Judge Parker is unfriendly either to unionism or to labor generally, one must study the conditions under which that injunction was granted. The constitution itself is quite emphatic in its statement that neither court nor congress can impair the obligation of a contract."

In the long run," advises the BROOKLYN EAGLE, "organized labor will be the beneficiary of having strenuous upholders of contracts on the supreme court bench and not the sufferer from such selections. For that reason the protest against Parker is an error of strategy which the American Federation of Labor may come to regret. The hearing of the case on the eligibility of Judge Parker as a candidate for promotion to the supreme court is not dependent upon what the supreme court might have decided regarding the soundness of his judgment in this particular case, if it had come before it. He may have been honestly mistaken and yet have a record attesting the high quality of his learning and his judicial temper. Indeed, it is understood that the investigation which the attorney general has made of the judge's record has fully satisfied President Hoover. The question raised, and one upon which this case may possibly shed some light, is simply whether or not Judge Parker is to be regarded as a conservative or a liberal in his interpretation of the constitution."

Merit in the discussion is emphasized by the RALEIGH NEWS AND OBSERVER, with the statement as to its value: "A judge who is intensely pro-labor in his convictions is as undesirable judicial timber as one pro-capital. Certainly any fair review of a judge as a member of the United States supreme court will show whether his decisions have been biased by the sort of convictions which ought to be foreign to the judicial temperament. The interest of opposing schools of thought and action in the complexion of the judiciary is a healthy sign and one not to be lightly valued."

Judge Parker is described by the AKRON BEACON JOURNAL as "a middle of the roader," while the CHARLOTTE OBSERVER offers the opinion: "No doubt a clean bill of health is in the writing for Hoover's latest selection. Meantime, some well founded protests are being voiced by the papers against the recently developed habit of running to the committee with objections to presidential appointments." Among papers which find significance in the fact that the North Carolina jurist, while a member of the Republican party, has the endorsement of both Democrats and Republicans in congress from his own state, are the ROCK ISLAND ARGUS, the SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS, the HELENA MONTANA RECORD-HERALD and the SAVANNAH PRESS. The SHREVEPORT JOURNAL comments: "The majority of the citizens of the south would, of course, prefer the placing of a Democrat on the United States bench, but there can be no serious protest against the president's action." The OMAHA WORLD-HERALD says: "The fact that the Democrats of his state, while endorsing one of their own party to the president, took occasion to point out Judge Parker's qualifications, indicates that he is fair as well as upright. The supreme court needs such men. The president has made a choice in the right direction."

Hope is expressed by the LYNCHBURG NEWS that "it will be found that President Hoover has learned the lesson taught by the determined and vigorous opposition to Judge Hughes." The SEATTLE TIMES feels that "it may be assumed Judge Parker is not entirely in accord with the Norris-La Follette group." The CHARLESTON EVENING POST, however, is of the opinion that "the North Carolina believes the supreme court has too small a portion at the present time." The KANSAS CITY STAR advises that "it would be a healthy thing for the supreme court if its youngest associate justice could say with its oldest, 'All life is an experiment,' and not fear to permit those social experiments which can be carried on within 'the insulated chambers afforded by the several states.'"

Analysis and strong praise of the judicial qualities of the appointee are contributed by the RICHMOND NEWS LEADER, the ASHEVILLE TIMES, the NEW YORK EVENING POST, the SYRACUSE HERALD and the BIRMINGHAM NEWS. Further, the FORT WORTH RECORD-TELEGRAM points to his value on the court as a representative of the south, adding: "A first-hand knowledge of the economics of this section of the United States by one of the nine persons who administer final judgment on the acts of congress is confidence-inspiring even though the political equation rather than the geographical decided the appointment."

The Automobile Club of Southern California has sent a completely equipped expedition to explore the roads leading from the Mexican Line at Nogales (opposite Tucson, Arizona), to Mexico City, thence through Central America, across the Isthmus of Panama, into South America and on through the South American Nations to Buenos Aires. It is with the idea of promoting a through automobile highway from Los Angeles, California, to Buenos Aires, Argentina, open to traffic the year round. The expedition has a deeper significance than that, for by reason of the opening and improving such an American Highway, will civilization and the sale of American wares be accomplished.

Harry Carr, the well known correspondent for the Los Angeles Times, is with the expedition and he writes colorfully of the beginnings of the trip. The expedition carries a wireless outfit and the first report from the expedition was sent to the Times by this wireless, on March 23rd, from Hermosillo, Mexico.

"For twenty hours, I have been riding down an old Mexican road with the pathfinding expedition of the Automobile Club of Southern California. When we rolled through the International gate at Nogales, it was like slipping out into another world and another century."

"Changeless, inscrutable Mexico—a battalion of soldiers drilling in the streets, the dulce peddlers with their tables on their heads, old women sitting in the doorways, the dance halls with flaring signs."

CALLERS
 I've put away the easy chair.
 My desk with books I strew.
 I've left no space for sitting there.
 As once I used to do.
 I've stripped the pictures from the walls.
 The carpet from the floor.
 But every visitor who calls Enjoys my room the more.

Time was I flaunted post-its two,
 In busy! one proclaimed
 The other: "I have work to do!"
 But now on mine they shamed.
 And callers read the shamed.
 Some praised the massive print.
 But no one that I ushered in Would take them as a hint.

To keep the windows closed I tried.
 I've let the air grow stale
 One month I flung them open wide
 And shivered in a gale.
 But still they came and still they stayed.
 And still they come and stay.
 As if the hours of day were made
 For them to chat away.

I write this now to justify.
 The dreadful deed I dread
 If I shall let my temper fly,
 And strike some caller dead.
 When full confession I have made Prepared to pay the price.
 Think of the countless hours he stayed While I was being nice

IF YOU HAV'E FAILED—

To keep your self-respect nothing is gained is of any profit.
 To keep your life in your life then life is empty indeed.
 To inherit a father's good character his name will be worth little to you.
 To learn how to spend money intelligently it will help little to earn more.
 To grow a soul of honor immortality will have little meaning to you.
 To cultivate a contented spirit you can never be really rich.
 To learn how to forgive you have accumulated a lot of unnecessary burdens.

Suits Aggregating $60,000 Are Filed In Accident Here

Aftermath Of Accident In Which William Kissick Of Ellwood Met Death

Four suits for damages aggregating $60,000, were filed at the prothonotary's office this morning as the result of an automobile collision on the New Castle-New Wilmington road on February 9th, between cars belonging to John W. Kimpel of Ellwood City and W. M. Ramsey of this city. In the accident Charles Kissick of Ellwood City, was fatally injured and died in the Jameson Memorial hospital.

The first suit is by John W. Kimpel, father of Reed Kimpel, driver of the car, in behalf of his son and in his own right. In this suit $15,000 is asked for injuries to Reed Kimpel and $5,000 for the father.

In the second suit, Charles Kissick, father of Catherine Hicks, who was injured, has filed a suit in behalf of his daughter and in his own right. $10,000 is asked for Catherine and $5,000 for Hicks.

In the third suit, Charles Kissick, father of William Kissick, who was killed, is asking for $15,000.

In the fourth suit, Charles Kissick, father of Virginia Kissick, who was injured, is asking $10,000 for Virginia and $5,000 in his own right.

The accident occurred when the car driven by Reed Kimpel, skidded across the highway, which was wet and slippery, in front of the Ramsey car. The Kimpel car was going in the direction of New Wilmington and the Ramsey car was coming toward New Castle.

It is claimed in the suits filed that Ramsey should have been able to have stopped his car before it struck the Kimpel car. Ramsey carried insurance, but it is understood that the insurance company has been unable to effect a settlement.

Ramsey claims that when the Kimpel car skidded across the road in front of him, he was too close to stop before striking the Kimpel car.

Hundreds Mourn At Wagner Home

Late Beloved Wife Of Richard Wagner Mourned By Music Lovers

(International News Service) BAYREUTH, Germany, April 2.—Music lovers from far and near came to Bayreuth today to join members of the family and neighbors in mourning at the bier of Frau Cosima, widow of the great composer, Richard Wagner, and daughter of Franz Liszt. She died yesterday at the age of 92 in the beautiful villa she had helped Wagner build.

Her three daughters were with her when death came. Her son, Siegfried, who has been conducting at La Scala, in Milan, may come for the funeral.

Messages of condolence from all parts of the world came today to the villa and there were flowers from many of the noted families of Europe.

Frau Cosima's body will be cremated at Coburg Friday and an urn containing her ashes will be placed beside the tomb of her husband in Bayreuth.

resident of this city. Mr. Hannon had been in ill health for several months, due to a complication of diseases, and death resulted last night at 8:30 o'clock.

Mr. Hannon was the son of Michael Hannon, for many years an iron puddler of this city, and he has many friends and relatives residing in this city. Had he survived until next Saturday he would have been 63 years of age.

He received his early education in the West Side and White schools, and when a young man he learned the glass trade. He followed the occupation of glass gatherer for many years, working in the factories of this city until they were dismantled, and going from here after that to glass plants in this and other states. He was well known and liked by all who knew him. He was known as "Jubie", a nickname given him when a boy.

His death occurred at the home of his brother, John Hannon, where he made his home. His funeral will take place Thursday afternoon at DuBois and many from here will attend.

Mr. Hannon was married, but his wife died a number of years ago. He is survived by the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Grace Fleming, Santa Monica, Cal.; Mrs. Anna Prethy, Columbus, O.; John Hannon, DuBois, Pa.; Mrs. Bess Simpson, Alliquippa, Pa.; and Dick Hannon of this city.

Special selections were rendered by Misses Jean and Betty Hartland, Dorothy Aiken, Mabel Gross, Marjorie Young and the Messrs. Oliver Theophilus, Gilbert Colnot, Elmer Gorman and Hugh Davis.

A luncheon was served by Misses Mary Irene Taylor and Lois Ringer.

Doctors Issue 1124 Health Certificates

There were 1,124 persons employed in the handling of foodstuffs in New Castle last year, according to a report to be submitted by Dr. William L. Steen to city council, Friday. They were given certificates of good health by local physicians which in turn were presented to Dr. Steen before they secured positions where foods were handled and served.

EXAMINES CULTURES

Among the duties of the city health officer, Dr. William L. Steen is the examination of throat cultures, and during 1930 he examined 52 for diphtheria germs.

saved on needless drilling alone and the waste of gas is frightful, and thus far unavoidable. Each 4,000-barrel well in Kettleman Hills pours out one hundred million cubic feet of gas daily, practically all wasted, as regards fuel and power value.

Standard Oil by a scientific process "squeezes" two thousand barrels of gasoline from 100,000,000 cubic feet of gas before letting it go to waste in the atmosphere. The Pacific Gas Company, with a pipe line to San Francisco, utilizes some of the gas, but billions of dollars' worth of it must go to waste. There is a chance for the man of inventive mind.

Perhaps Edison could make rubber out of that gas more cheaply than from goldenrod. Gas is very resilient. For gas sold to the gas company, Standard Oil gets from five to seven cents a thousand cubic feet. That seems cheap to one who pays $1.25 on Long Island.

Secretary Wilbur is doing excellent work conserving oil resources. He has arranged to shut off production entirely in one of the richest regions here, the restriction lasting until 1932. The big oil companies co-operate with him.

But some more complete plan is needed. President Hoover has long owned a big branch near here. It may make him very rich.

With only a few hundred thousand dollars back of him, can the little man enter this oil game? He can and sometimes he wins. To prospectors that will drill, government leases land on royalty.

If one strikes oil in new territory, government will lease to him as much as 2,500 acres, not more, to reward his pioneering. That pays sometimes. For instance, today, a citizens offers Mr. Kingsbury, a half interest in a government lease covering about 500 acres. The buyer would have to pay government royalties, and the price asked for the half interest is nine million dollars cash. Mr. Kingsbury says it is probably worth it.

Many things the oil executive sees in his flying morning. A brief report would fill two newspapers. A column of black smoke, rising 1,000 feet into the air, would have delighted Moses on his travels. Flames flash below the smoke 3,000 feet below the plane. Some one is burning out a sump, getting rid of oil waste.

On a lake nearby there is a thick white mass, which a glass divides into thousands of pelicans. They come to eat. Here and there throughout the region are great square patches of green, with well kept buildings. These are Standard Oil camps of clerks all about, great storage tanks, offices, men's dwellings.

A straight line runs off northwest toward the Pacific. That is the track of a pipe line carrying oil to the bay of San Francisco. Another straight line marks the pipe that runs over the mountains, and out into the ocean just below San Simeon. At its end Standard Oil ships take in 30,000 barrels an hour, big ships are loaded and on their way to Asia or through the Panama Canal in five or six hours. This oil business is systematized.

Everywhere are patches of dark green alfalfa, beautiful orchards and wide irrigation canals running through the oil lands. You may find on any one of a dozen ranches an old man who has built up his land to a value of two to five hundred dollars an acre. Near him is land that he would not even look at twenty years ago. It is bare, hilly, the earth's surface looking like the top of a gigantic pie crust, fresh from the oven. One acre of that land, formerly despoiled, may yield ten million dollars' worth of oil.

The air travellers see clearly the borders of a lake, long since gone dry, its outline as plain as that of a soup plate. Hundreds of farmers working its thirty square miles of surface cannot see that it ever was a lake. To them it is flat land. That is how historians look at us when we are too near the events. Carlyle called Marat a "horse doctor." And Marat was the first man that ever performed an operation for cataract on a human being.

James Gardner Has Made Collection Of New First Editions Of Modern Books

A certain lore is connected with book collecting, with which nothing else can compare. If all the old books owned by local people were put side by side, the book trail would lead somewhere many miles away. It is just a natural tendency to keep old books and read them over time and again.

In New Castle, there are a number of people whose hobby it is to collect old first editions.

James E. Gardner, a page at the New Castle free public library, has been rather original in the collecting field, and has made a fine collection of new first editions. In years to come, these books will become more and more rare, and someday, the collection will be one of which to be proud.

Young Gardner did not just buy the books because they were first editions, but, when he did buy a book, he made certain that it was a first edition.

Included in the collection are:

Carl Sandburg—Good Morning America.

Joyce Kilmer—Thee and Other Poems.

Jessie Rittenhouse—Door of Dreams.

Mansefield—Poems.

Edgar Guest—Heap O'Living.

Henry Ford—Today and Tomorrow.

Lyttton Strachey—Elizabeth and Essex.

Benito Mussolini—My Autobiography.

Edward Bok—Perhaps I Am.

Konrad Bercowicz—Alexander.

Ralph Barton—God's Country.

Waldemar Bonsels—Indian Journey.

Harry Frank—Vagabonding.

Through Changing Germany.

Albert Hubbard—Man of Sorrows.

Van Doren—Anthology of World Poetry.

H. G. Wells—Washington and the Middle of Peace.

Claude Bowers—Tragic Era.

Wallace Nutting—New Hampshire Beautiful.

Scabrook—Maidie Island.

Fiction.

Van Dyke—Lost Boy.

David Grayson—Great Possessions.

Hugh Walpole—Fortitude.

RESPECT YOUR BUSINESS

Charles Dickens said: "It is well for a man to respect his own vocation whatever it is, and to think himself bound to uphold it, and to claim for it the respect it deserves."

If we are in a business we do not respect, cannot be proud of, and feel incapable of defending, we ought to get out in a hurry. There are many things to do in the world and no man ought to be engaged in any vocation which does not attract his own loyalty.

MISSING THE POINT

Perhaps the commonest weakness of us all is to put too high a value on pleasure. We assure our behavior too frequently in the terms of pleasure. We are forecasting or trying to forecast what will get out of a certain course of action—in pleasure. Could we get a more intimate history of the lives of other people we should probably learn that most happiness, the greatest satisfactions had come to those who thought often in terms of duty than in terms of pleasure.

novelist: "I think it rather fine, this necessity for the tense bracing of the will before anything worth doing can be done. I rather like it myself. I feel it is to be the chief thing that differentiates me from the cat by the fire."

In middle age there comes to some people a tendency to wish to take the cat by the fire attitude toward life. To do the thing that you know is vastly worth doing takes a distinct effort of the will. It takes just the same sort of effort of the will to keep from doing the thing you know you ought not to do. And yet one CAN make that effort. Without such repeated efforts we are like cats by the fire and life surely is not worth living.

JUST A NAME

A Filipino who does some thinking informs his fellow legislators in the islands that independence from the United States will mean five per cent higher taxes and a 30 per cent cut in the market for principal crops. It's easy to get up a revolution for this, that and the other thing. Most of us are ready to fight for a name, and idea, a title. If we stopped to analyze some of the things we crave we might discover we don't want them at all.

Coroner's Jury Would Hold Two In Donohue Case

(International News Service)
UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 2.—A coroner's jury today recommended that Tony (A. W.) Bell Jr. and Glenn Allum be charged with the killing of John F. Donohue, detective, in an alleged rum hi-jacking conspiracy.

Bell was formerly a county detective and chief of police of Masontown, but is serving a six months sentence in Allegheny county workhouse for allegedly defaulting rent from his landlord.

Allum, convicted bootlegger, is serving three years in the workhouse.

Witnesses testified in the two months investigation that Allum was the last person seen with Donohue before he had been "taken for a ride." Threats allegedly made by Bell against Donohue were related.

Donohue's bullet-riddled body, slumped over the steering wheel of his car, was found last July.

Have Color In Cheeks

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should try Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 20 years of study. Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and help overcome constipation. Take nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes sold yearly. 15c, 30c, 60c.

At the Age Women Dread

"Three years ago I was in bed three months with a nervous breakdown. After that I had to lie down often. I have four children, the youngest 21, and I board two little school-girls. I try to keep my home as a mother should but I am at the age so many women dread. Since taking six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I feel 100% stronger. I am not so nervous and my appetite is better."—Mrs. Della Husell, 623 East 1st Street, Casper, Wyoming.

Highland School Leads In Thrift

Arthur McGill School Is Second For Month Of March

Highland avenue school lead all the schools in the city in thrift during the month of March, as they had an average of 43 cents per pupil saved. The Arthur McGill school was second with an average savings of 31 cents per pupil, while the West Side school was third with an average savings per pupil of 28 cents.

Oak street school was fourth with an average of 22 cents and George Washington Junior high school was fifth with an average of 21 cents, which was very good indeed for this high school.

Thaddeus Stevens school had an average savings of 18 cents per pupil; Choten avenue school an average of 16 cents per pupil; Rose avenue school an average of 10 cents per pupil; Benjamin Franklin Junior high school an average of 10 cents per pupil; Aiken school an average of 9 cents per pupil; Mahoning school an average of 8 cents per pupil; North street school an average of 8 cent per pupil; Lincoln and Garfield school an average of 7 cents per pupil and the Terrace avenue school an average of 4 cents per pupil.

In the county schools outside of New Castle, the Union township school saved $89.99; Shenango township school saved $72.21; North Beaver township school, $25.97; Nesheer township public schools, $17.58 and the East Brook school, $9.94.

Non-Journalists Barred By London

LONDON, April 2.—Representatives of non-journalistic organizations in the United States who hitherto have been active in the press room of the Ritz hotel, headquarters for the American delegation to the five power naval conference, today suddenly found themselves barred from further use of this room or further participation in press conferences held by the American delegates.

As a result of protests lodged by bonafide American newspaper correspondents against the activities of these non-journalistic representatives, a notice was posted on the bulletin board in the Ritz press room announcing that hereafter the room is reserved for the use only of members of the Daily Press.

The notice was posted by Arthur Wilson Page, one of the advisors to the American delegates. It stated that persons representing organizations other than newspapers and press associations would be received by page or Ambassador Hugh Wilson when they desired contact with the American delegates.

Mentions Certain Methods Of Aiding Auto Crash Tolls

HARRISBURG, April 2.—"Warm Spring days are just ahead," said Motor Vehicle Commissioner Benjamin G. Eynon today, "and in order to participate without delay in a serious accident it is only necessary for operators whose front tires are worn out to drive like mad along a street or highway in the open country."

The Bureau of Motor Vehicles expects the number of accidents to increase very soon. Warm weather sends more cars into use and more cars mean more accidents.

"Even if worn tires fail to blow out," continued Commissioner Eynon, "it is possible to hasten the coming of a crash by racing past street or road intersections. Sooner or later some one else will be racing on the cross street."

"Failure to gauge the speed of an approaching vehicle will enable cutters-in and cutters-out to ride in ambulances. The best time for this performance is on a Sunday afternoon, the only drawback being that if ambulances are very busy, victims may be compelled to wait a short time for their ride."

"On some highway curves it is easier to make time if the car straddles the white line, or gets into traffic, and though a crash may occur in which men and women are killed or injured, the driver, if he is able to think at all will have the satisfaction of knowing that he saved several seconds. While he is in the hospital he will have plenty of time to wonder what he will do with them."

"At racetracks horses are entered in steeplechases, as is well-known, but many Pennsylvania operators evidently believe their motor cars are set is usually required to cure motor driving steeplechasers of that belief."

"If no motor patrolman is visible at the 'Thru-Traffic-Stop' sign it is thrilling to see how fast one can enter or cross the intersecting thoroughfare. At a reward in many cases the doctor promises to be as careful as possible when he picks out the glass."

"Motorists who pass other cars on curves continue to receive tributes of call lilies, concluded Commissioner Eynon.

King Of Arkansas Timber Wolves Is Placed In Zoo

10-Year Career Of Depredations Ended By Posse With Hounds

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 2.—Old "Two Toes," king of the timber wolves, must spend the remainder of his life behind bars at the Memphis zoo as penalty for the ruthless crimes he committed when he led his pack thru the forests of Arkansas.

After 10 years of freedom and mastery, the gaunt, wily beast was outsmarted by men and dogs in Cross Country, Ark., and brought here.

"Two Toes," so named because he lost all his toes on right hind paw except two in traps, is famous in song and story in eastern Arkansas. His pack killed sheep and goats by the hundreds and often cows and even bulls were pulled down. Always by the carcasses would be wolf prints and the mark of "Two Toes."

Skilled trappers sought him. Last week his pack slaughtered 14 goats in one day. It was murder, said Sheriff E. L. Cooper, so the law took a hand. The best dogs in eastern Arkansas followed by a posse set out to capture "Two Toes." The hounds found him at dawn and followed him and his pack across the ridges. He tried many of his old tricks, doubled back and went into the swamps. But the hounds kept their noses to the dirt. The pack scattered. Three hours later the hounds found "Two Toes," exhausted and conquered, in a hollow log. The hunters spread a net around one end of the log and captured him.

Sportsmen To Protect Game

GREENSBURG, April 2.—At a meeting attended by 600 sportsmen, the Greensburg Sportsmen's Association was organized with a membership of 232.

John B. Kunkle, Jr., was elected president of the association; Emerson Wright, vice president; and J. A. Gahagen, secretary-treasurer. All the officers selected have been active in game protective work throughout the county and were largely responsible for the organization of the local association.

Speakers included Ross L. Leffler, president of the state game commission; Bert Wright, division game chief; Ray McKissick, district game protector and William Matthews, No. 5 refuge keeper.

Board Is Named To Govern Cafeterias

Sale Of Candy And Chocolate Milk In High Schools May Be Resumed

After an investigation of the high school cafeterias by members of a committee appointed by President Woolcock, the committee recommended that a board of management be named to consist of the managers of the cafeteria, together with one member from the school board. This recommendation was adopted.

During the discussion of the matter, it developed that the cafeterias could not be operated at a profit without greatly lowering the quality and quantity of food served, unless the sale of candy and chocolate milk was permitted. The board having ordered the sale of such products stopped after the Easter vacation.

It was explained to the board that chocolate milk and candy was sold to the students only after they had purchased their meals, and that they were not permitted to buy candy alone for their meals as had been charged. No action was taken by the board, owing to the absence of Dr. W. D. Cleland, who was a member of the committee which had previously investigated the matter.

Young Man Suicides; Leaves "Hoax" Note

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, April 2.—James H. Bickel, 24, had a last laugh at life on April Fool's Day when he committed suicide yesterday.

Bickel was out of work and despondent. He had quit his last job that paid him $12 per week.

Police of Millvale found him unconscious on Fortieth street bridge yesterday and rushed him to St. Francis hospital where he died.

Seeking clues to his identity, police found a note in the inside pocket of his shabby coat. It read:

"I, James H. Bickel, do hereby commit suicide of my own free will and drowning. My money, amounting to somewhere about $673,000, will be found in the vaults of the various banks of Pittsburgh."

The youth had taken poison and collapsed before he could leap from the bridge.

With the discovery of the note, police feared Bickel might prove to have been the scion of a wealthy family. An investigation, however, revealed the "fortune" stated in the note was non-existent.

N. Y. Aviatrix Now Manages Airport

(International News Service) CULVER CITY, Cal., April 2.—Miss Margaret Perry, former New York City aviatrix, assumed management of the Culver City airport, believed to be the first ever to be operated by a woman.

Miss Perry came to California 18 months ago and obtained her pilot's license.

She competed last August in the national women's air derby which was flown from Santa Monica, Cal., to Cleveland, Ohio. Illness forced Miss Perry out of the race at Fort Worth, Texas.

Returning to California, she won her transport pilot's license.

STAR LORE
FOUCAULT KNIFE-BLADE
MIRROR TEST

In 1850 Foucault discovered the famous knife-edge for testing the surface of a reflecting mirror while grinding and polishing. Set reflecting mirror on edge, facing worker at table level; place lighted oil lamp in front of mirror in darkened room, substituting tin chimney on lamp, with tiny star punched in chimney with a needle. Set lamp in front of mirror about eight feet distant. The light shining through pinhole, if centered on mirror sphere, will make a cone of light that will all be reflected back again into the pinhole. If lamp is set a little to right, the reflected cone will be directed a little to the left.

Plan To Enlarge Garden Club Work

Will Extend Work By Forming Clubs In More Of City Schools

One of the most gratifying pieces of civic work that has been undertaken in this city in some time, is the work accomplished under the direction of The Garden Club and it is planned that this organization will enlarge in the near future by forming more garden clubs in the public schools that have not already entered in this work.

Oak Street has had a Garden Club for the past two years, and has proven successful. Other schools that have found this interesting work a real benefit to their principals and instructresses to whom much credit is due for their co-operation and supervision are as follows: St. Marys Farochial School, Sister DeLillis; North Street School, Miss Evelyn Spencer, under Prof. W. A. Hoffmeister; Highland Ave. School, Miss Pearl Hutchinson, West Side School, Miss Theresa Cover, Arthur Magill school, Miss Dorothy Hennon, under Prof. Roy G. Leslie; Rose Ave. school, Miss Morfydd Owens, Oak Street school, Miss Mary Martin under Principal Iretta V. Dart; Aiken school, Miss Alice Schu, Terrace Avenue school, Miss Emma Gibbons under Principal Anna R. Perry.

The remaining schools which are not listed, will be taken into this work as soon as it can be arranged, and with the backing of the principals, teachers and the co-operation of the Parents-Teachers Association, will mark a future work that will benefit the children in many ways.

April Fool Joke Is Almost Fatal, Youth Is Jailed

Alliance, Ohio, Youth Must Explain To Mayor Just Why He Staged April Fool Joke

(International News Service) ALLIANCE, O., April 2.—Because his idea of an April fool joke came very near to being tragedy, Frank Brietzka, 12, was today awaiting a hearing in municipal court here.

The boy rushed into a shoe shop and yelled "The shop's on fire!" August Camma, a customer, suffering from heart disease, collapsed. The fire department was called, ruining firemen's dreams of a runless record which they have been striving successfully to maintain for some time.

The police sense of humor however did not match that of Frank's and the boy was led away on the arm of a patrolman.

End Of World Sermon Theme

Large Crowd Attends Services At Central Christian Church

The inclemency of the weather last night did not hinder the attendance of another fine crowd from attending the Great Pentecost campaign now being held at the Central Christian church by the Small and Hess evangelistic team.

The outstanding feature last night were the attendance of the Loyal Men's Bible class taught by Jesse B. Porter, the pastor of the church and the K. E. Smith Bible class taught by Harold Phelps a graduate of Bethany College sang by F. G. Hess, who received many deserved compliments.

Evangelist Small began his sermon on "The End of the World" by reading from the third chapter of second Peter, pointed out the business of the minister was to stir the minds of the followers of the Lord, as the Son of Man was coming one of these days and the men and women that think they are wiser than God will have to submit to His will. He said that God has no pleasure in sin, no pleasure in death but desired that all should come to repentance and be fully prepared for His unexpected coming. The sermon subject tonight is "Do You Believe in Lie." The ordinance of Christian baptism will be administered at the close of the service.

Evangelist Held On Fraud Charge

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, April 2.—The Rev. John W. Sproul, evangelist, was to be given a hearing today before Alderman C. B. Qualley on a charge of fraudulent conversion. The charge was made by John W. Luteran, commercial manager of radio station WMBJ, over which several of Sproul's services were broadcast.

Luteran claimed Sproul spent $1,000 given him for payment of wire service, for his own personal use.

About two months ago, the Rev. Sproul was up on similar charges in Millvale, a suburb, when John Vogel, an invalid, alleged he loaned Sproul $5,000 with which to build a "Glory Barn in Parnassus." Upon demand Sproul was alleged to have paid back $2,000 but refused to pay back the remainder. He was arrested while preaching in a suburban theater.

Sproul was also arrested last fall, when he was alleged to have given his gardener a worthless check for services. He later made the check good, it was said.

State Is Aiding Illiteracy War

(Special To The News) WASHINGTON, D. C., April 2.—Pennsylvania is one of the thirty-five states in the country cited by the National Advisory Committee on Illiteracy as waging an aggressive campaign against illiteracy as a part of President Hoover's nation-wide drive.

Of the thirty-five states, twenty-six of them of which Pennsylvania is one, have appointed state committees and are conducting an organized campaign under the guidance of the national committee appointed last November by Secretary of the Interior Wilbur with the approval of the President.

Plan To Enlarge Garden Club Work

Will Extend Work By Forming Clubs In More Of City Schools

One of the most gratifying pieces of civic work that has been undertaken in this city in some time, is the work accomplished under the direction of The Garden Club and it is planned that this organization will enlarge in the near future by forming more garden clubs in the public schools that have not already entered in this work.

Oak Street has had a Garden Club for the past two years, and has proven successful. Other schools that have found this interesting work a real benefit to their principals and instructresses to whom much credit is due for their co-operation and supervision are as follows: St. Marys Farochial School, Sister DeLillis; North Street School, Miss Evelyn Spencer, under Prof. W. A. Hoffmeister; Highland Ave. School, Miss Pearl Hutchinson, West Side School, Miss Theresa Cover, Arthur Magill school, Miss Dorothy Hennon, under Prof. Roy G. Leslie; Rose Ave. school, Miss Morfydd Owens, Oak Street school, Miss Mary Martin under Principal Iretta V. Dart; Aiken school, Miss Alice Schu, Terrace Avenue school, Miss Emma Gibbons under Principal Anna R. Perry.

The remaining schools which are not listed, will be taken into this work as soon as it can be arranged, and with the backing of the principals, teachers and the co-operation of the Parents-Teachers Association, will mark a future work that will benefit the children in many ways.

Over 10 Miles Of Wieners Sold In City In Week

The lowly wiener has accumulated much prestige in the diet of New Castle citizens. One large packing company, sends weekly, into the city, over ten miles of wieners. This is one of the twelve packing companies that work to fill the hunger calls of "Hot Dog". If you figure this out in round numbers, it is 126,720 wieners that the hungry citizens of New Castle are given a chance to devour. This is 2 1/2 wieners to each of the 54,000 people that live in New Castle at the present. Not all of these companies do such a big business however, some companies only selling 600 pounds a week. Several companies average about this, making 14,400 wieners as weekly sales. The average length of a wiener is five inches. If you want it in larger figures, the people of New Castle eat each week, about twelve miles of wieners.

Ellwood Firm Is Awarded Contract

R. E. Snyder Construction Co., Given Contract For New Chippewa Township School Building

BEAVER FALLS, April 2.—At an adjourned meeting of the Chippewa township school board last evening the R. E. Snyder Construction company of Ellwood City with a bid of $36,000 was awarded the general contract for the construction of a new school building.

Work will be started within the next few weeks and the building will be ready for occupancy with the opening of the semester next September.

The building will be constructed of brick, and will be two stories high. It will consist of eight class rooms, with special vocation rooms in the ample basement.

Subsidiary contracts were not decided upon at last evening's meeting.

and the matter of letting them was held over until next Monday evening when the board will meet in another special session.

Quigley, a minor, claims through his parents, Joseph P. and Anna Quigley, that as he was riding on a freight train of the Allegheny Valley Railroad, a brakeman threw a lump of coal at him. He lost his balance in avoiding the missile, it was claimed, fell off the train, and his leg was crushed.

Pig Iron Output Shows Increase

Steel Ingot Output Shows Decline—Finished Steel Prices Undergo Reductions

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, April 2.—Increased pig iron production in March in contrast with steel ingot output decline, will be noted by the Iron Age in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade tomorrow. Pig iron output increased 3 per cent during the month. Finished steel prices have undergone further reductions. Bars are now more generally quoted at 1.80c., Pittsburgh, or $1 a ton below recent asking prices. Hot rolled strip is off another $1 a ton to 1.70c for wide and 1.80c for narrow.

The Iron Age composite price for finished steel has declined from 2.312c to 2.264c per pound, its lowest level since August 1922 and almost $3. a ton below the 1929 peak. The pig iron composite unchanged at $17.75 a gross ton is 7 1/2c lower than a year ago.

Prayer In Congress

The house met at 12 o'clock noon. The chaplain, Rev. James Shera Montgomery, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Our Father, let us not wait until some fair tomorrow to bring us the gifts of our hearts, but let us lay hold of happiness and contentment today and have them for all whom we meet. Breathe upon our entire citizenship an earnest purpose to do good to all peoples. Grant that our country may live in such blessings of Christian liberty that they may be led the same way. Take away all false pride and vainglory, and make us a nation that ever extends help and comfort to the unfortunate. Be with us and let us know the secret by which we may have from the Divine strength, patience, and forbearance, and know uncomplaining peace in the midst of the cares and problems of life. O bless us with that refuge of sacred thoughts that is in the bosom of our Heavenly Father. Amen.

Notice We have leased the storeroom situated at No. 2 East street, corner of Neshannock avenue, this city, lately occupied by the East Street Market, a corporation, to Bert C. Pence of Scott Township, who is well and favorably known to our citizens, he being one of the organizers of the East Street Market many years ago, and has conducted successfully several stores at different locations in this city.

Mr. Pence advises that he will open a first-class Market on Saturday, April 5th, in the afternoon, and that beginning at 9:00 o'clock in the morning of the same day he will hand out several hundred shopping bags containing a sample of the bread he expects to regularly manufacture.

In addition to leasing the premises at No. 2 East Street to Mr. Pence, we have made arrangements with him to give away to adult persons (no children) the groceries purchased by us from Frank N. Johnson, High Sheriff, on January 23rd, 1930, all of whom we request to assemble at the Neshannock end of the new bridge crossing the Neshannock Creek from Croton avenue to Neshannock avenue and walk down Neshannock avenue toward East and Washington streets and enter the Neshannock entrance to No. 2 East Street, where will be handed to them the shopping bag above referred to.

State Police Force Is 25 Years Old

Organized In 1905—Five Of Original Force Still In Service

HARRISBURG, Apr. 2.—The Pennsylvania State Police as an organization will be twenty five years old next December 15 and five of the original members of the force are still in the service.

The Department of State Police was created by an act of May 2, 1905 but some months were required for the recruiting of the original authorized forces of 223 men so that the organization did not begin to function until December 15 of that year. Subsequently the Administrative Code changed the name of the organization to the Pennsylvania State Police.

Of the original members of the force the five who are still in service are Major Lynn G. Adams, superintendent; Major C. M. Wilhelm, deputy superintendent; Captain Paul B. Stout; Captain William Clark and Captain W. C. Price, superintendent of the State Highway Patrol. Captain Price is now on a leave of absence from the State Police force being detailed to the Department of Revenue as head of the State Highway Patrol.

The original force of the State Police provided for four troops and now the force comprises five troops of eight men each and approximately sixteen men in the headquarters at the Capitol. In addition there are twenty men in the Bureau of Identification.

While no plans have been formulated at this time it is probable that some arrangements will be made next fall for a suitable celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the State Police and the observation of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the five original members of the force who are still in service.

The State Police formerly observed their anniversary in a quiet way but in recent years this practice was abandoned. However, it is possible that this custom may be revived this year for the observance of the passing of the quarter-century milestone.

HOPING The mourners had gathered for a final tribute to their departed friend and brother. "Samuel Jackson" intoned the minister, "you is gone, and we hopes you is gone whar we specks you ain't."

Coffin Was Strange Bed Of Local Man, Years Ago

Street lights were few and far between and so, at midnight, or at 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning, the main street of New Castle was very, very dark. Only the weird moon, far up in the sky, would cast wisps of light over the houses.

When the night was the darkest, then would be the time that the dance held in one of the nearby homes, or in one of the exceedingly few dance halls, would break up, and the couples would walk down the dark streets, to home. Those who lived west of town passed the undertaking establishment of C. P. Norris, New Castle's only funeral home.

It was spooky enough, according to a local old timer, one of the many who remember those nights, without former, the hostler about the place had no scruples whatever against rolling up a blanket for a pillow and taking a pleasant little nap in one of the inviting caskets. There he could be seen, many a night, lying in the box at an angle of 45 degrees.

Will Congratulate Sharon High Team

On recommendation of School Director McIlvenny, the New Castle school board went on record as favoring a motion to extend the congratulations of the board to the Sharon team in winning the state basketball championship.

The letter will be sent today by the secretary of the board.

If the old-fashioned way of raising kids was better, why did they turn out to be such fool parents?

Men's Bible Classes To Sponsor Revival

Under the auspices of five Men's Bible classes of the city, a two weeks series of evangelistic services will start Sunday evening in the City Rescue Mission, with Rev. John Hamilton of Winona Lake, Ind., in charge of the preaching and Homer Welch of Grove City in charge of the singing.

While the Bible classes are sponsoring the services, they will be open to every person in the city and on Sunday afternoon, April 6th, the meetings will get under way with a huge men's mass meeting, to be held in the First Presbyterian church.

Others to join the decision to hold the services came rather quickly. It became known that Hamilton and Welch could be secured for the two weeks immediately preceding Easter Sunday, and the Bible classes of the First M. E. Presbyterian, First Baptist, Third U. P. and Epworth M. E.

churches said they would get back of the meetings.

Other Bible classes are being asked to join with the ones mentioned, and by the opening meeting it is anticipated that several more will have a part in it.

A meeting of officers of the Bible classes named was held Tuesday evening in the First Baptist church and an executive committee named to handle the details attendant to the services. This committee consists of the following: chairman, W. H. Butler; secretary, Earl Reebie; treasurer, Ira M. Ramsey. Members are Leon Pink, A. A. Webb, Harry Thomas, George Fox and Bart Richards.

The mass meeting Sunday afternoon will see the First Presbyterian church filled, it is hoped, and each night following that it is anticipated that the Rescue Mission hall will be crowded with people who wish to hear Hamilton, a western evangelist who has established a reputation in evangelistic circles.

New Wage Scale For Coal Miners

(International News Service) TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 2.—A new wage and working contract for most of the Indiana coal fields, retaining the present $6.10 a day scale, and effective for one year, was signed here early today.

The contracting parties were representatives of the Indiana coal operators' association and of district No. 11 of the United Mine Workers of America.

The signing of the new contract, which replaces the one that expired yesterday, averted the possibility of idleness at Indiana soft coal mines employing about 20,000 miners.

Lions Hear Rentz Describe His Trip

Guest Speaker Tuesday At Regular Meeting; Convention Chief Reports

Fred L. Rentz, president of The News company related a most interesting and complete account of the western sojourn from which he and Mrs. Rentz have just returned when he spoke Tuesday before the local Lions club. While an active Rotarian, Mr. Rentz is an honorary member of the local den of Lions as well, and did not neglect to visit the meetings of western Lions' clubs during his stay there.

A Hughes Bartlett, general chairman of arrangements for the annual state convention of Lions' clubs, to occur here May 5 and 6, outlined the progress of plans that have been made for the entertainment of the visitors. Mr. Bartlett announced that 225 reservations have already been turned in, with many additional clubs to hear from.

Here for the meeting and to confer with Chairman Bartlett as to arrangements for "Stunt Night," planned as a convention feature, were five members of the Meadville club, headed by their president, Virgil J. Stanton. Others with him were Arthur Byham, William Flinn, Val J. Leone and H. B. Klingensmith.

Following the meeting the Meadville men inspected the auditorium and stage of the cathedral with Mr. Bartlett.

Prisoner Taken Back To His Cell

Escaped Rockview Prisoner Captured In Tyrone Taken Back To Prison Today

(International News Service) ROCKVIEW PENITENTIARY, Bellefonte, Pa., April 2.—Otto Rymer, 49, who escaped from the penitentiary here last Sunday night was returned by prison guards to his cell from Tyrone today.

Rymer was picked up at Tyrone early today by night officer Harry Michaels who arrested the escaped convict on a suspicious person charge. Rymer later was identified as the man who was reported missing at the regularly 8:15 o'clock nightly inspection at the penitentiary Sunday.

Identification of the escaped prisoner was established through tattoo marks upon his arm.

Just how Rymer made his temporarily successful bid for freedom was not immediately learned. When picked up by Michaels at Tyrone he had a set of "climbers," used by telephone linemen, in his possession and was posing as an employee of the telephone company.

Rymer was serving a four-year term for larceny at the time of his escape. He is of Swiss nationality and was sentenced from Allegheny county.

Needs Rifle And Rope To Catch Turtle

(International News Service) TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 2.—A high-powered rifle and a rope, used western style, were needed when T. S. Townsend, winter resident of Panacea Park, near here, captured an 850-pound trunk-back sea turtle off the coast of Bald Point.

The trifle, believed the largest ever captured near the coast in this vicinity, measured seven feet across its back.

Townsend with a group of friends spotted the reptile and fired several shots into its back. Finally, as the turtle came to the surface near the boat, Townsend lassoed it with a boat rope and managed to tow it ashore.

"After Baby Came
I Was Weak, Skinny Gained 22 Lbs."

"After baby was born I was very weak, skinny. Since taking Ironized Yeast feel fine. Gained 22 lbs." — Mrs. Laura Benoit.

Thousands write new Ironized Yeast adds 5 to 15 lbs. in 3 weeks. Ugly hollows fill out. Bony limbs get graceful roundness. Muddy skin gets clear and rosy like magic. Nervousness, indigestion, constipation vanish overnight. Sound sleep, new pep from first day.

Two great tonics in one—special weight-building Malt Yeast and strengthening Iron. Pleasant little tablets. Far stronger than unmedicated yeast. Results in 1-2 time. No yeast taste, no gas.

So quit being "skinny," tired, unattractive. Get Ironized Yeast from drugists today. Feel great tomorrow. Money back from manufacturer if not delighted with quick results.

Students Shave Heads In Mexican University
(International News Service) MEXICO CITY, April 2.—Among the things done in this year's "silly season" by the students of the National University of Mexico is the shaving of heads.

Most students eradicate even the last hair, while others run to fancy figures and geometrical designs. Those whose sense of humor is especially pronounced, affect the tonsure, or corona of the priest, while others have the head shaved in imitation of regular cases of baldness.

Largest And Smallest Clocks Of World Were Made In New Castle

Did you ever hear of the time when the largest and smallest clocks of the world were located in New Castle, and were made by a New Castle watchmaker?

It was in the 80's and most old timers have forgotten about them. The clocks were made by Theodore Rohrer, a well-known man who was an expert in the mechanical line. It is said that it took Mr. Rohrer 9 years to complete the large clock and 7 years to complete the small watch.

The large clock would not compare in size with the mammoth ones which are built now. Even then some dispute was heard as to whether Mr. Rohrer's clock or one in Switzerland, were the largest. But no one disagreed with the fact that there was more mechanism to this particular clock, than anyone could believe, without seeing.

Few people ever heard of a clock out of which a little band could march, playing their musical instruments. That is one of the novel features of Mr. Rohrer's clock. Mechanically, little doors would open and various scenes would take place on the mantel, according to one of the old timers who remembers the clock.

As for the smallest watch in the world—it was the size of a man's little finger nail, and was used by Mr. Rohrer for a shirt stud. Never was there any dispute that this was the very smallest in the world. It kept perfect time.

Sabbath Schools Plan Convention

District Meeting Will Be Held In Grove City Church On April 10

GROVE CITY, April 2.—Extensive preparations are being made for the annual convention of District No. 1, Mercer County Sabbath School Associations, which will be held in the Grove City United Presbyterian church on the afternoon and evening of April 10th.

State, county and district workers will be present and a most interesting program will be presented. Conferences will be held for every department of the Sabbath school and a special feature will be the "Children's hour."

START PLANT ADDITION
Ground was broken last Friday at the local plant of the Cooper-Bessemer corporation for the new addition to the power plant. The contract was recently let to the W. J. Camin general contractor of Newark, Ohio. The work will be rushed as soon as possible and workmen will be selected from Grove City to carry on the work. It is expected that the work will be completed in about 60 days.

TO GIVE LECTURE

Walter L. Payne of the department of commercial economics at Washington, D. C. will give an illustrated lecture in the Carnegie auditorium on the evening of April 8th. Mr. Payne will speak here under the auspices of the Grove City Commercial club. The public is invited to attend.

CLASS TO MEET

The Happy Workers class of the Intermediate department of the Grace Methodist church held their regular meeting and tureen dinner in the church. The following officers were elected: President, Anna Ruth Anderson; secretary and treasurer, Ruth Allen; social committee, Eleanor Milson, Nellie McKay, and Ruth Bollinger.

HOME FROM SOUTH

Mrs. E. C. Sieth and son David, arrived home Saturday after having spent several weeks in Florida. Mrs. Sieth made the trip to the southern state in the interest of her health and upon her return home is feeling much improved. Weather conditions in Florida during March have been extremely cold for that section. Mrs. Sieth reports.

Grandstand Burns At Daytona Beach

(International News Service) DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April 2.—Fire early today practically completely destroyed the grandstand located on the official mile of the beach speedway where Kays Don, Englishman, has been attempting to establish a new world's record for automobiles. Cause of the fire was not known.

Whether Don would again assault the speed record today depended on the condition of the beach. Which was so bad yesterday that the Englishman was able to reach a speed of only 173 miles an hour. Don said it might be several days before the beach was in shape for further attempts.

a day are scrapping their old razors for the New Gillette

New Razor no pulling

The New Gillette Razor, 24K. gold plated, in beautiful case, complete with New Gillette Blade, Price $1.00
Other De Luxe models at $5.00 to $75.00

ONE hundred and ten million men have used a Gillette Razor for years and maintained that it was the most efficient shaving instrument ever made. They were right.

Yet these men are scrapping their old Gillette Razors by the scores of thousands today. And again they are right.

In designing this new blade and razor, Gillette engineers interviewed 27,000 men, examined tens of thousands of used razors.

They found the cause of "razor pull"—found it in nicked and dented corners resulting from dropping the razor. These dents were enough to throw the blade out of alignment, to spoil a perfect shave.

What Gillette engineers did was to reinforce each corner of the new razor cap with heavy metal lugs. Then they cut out all four corners of the blade so that it is not held at these corners when cap and guard clamp together. Now even if you should happen to drop the new Gillette no harm is done; the blade maintains its perfect alignment and "pulling" is prevented.

The new blade is made of processed steel to resist rust. When finished shaving, simply turn blade and guard at right angles. Then re-tighten. Hold under hot running water—shake thoroughly, and leave on the shelf to dry. A great time and towel saver.

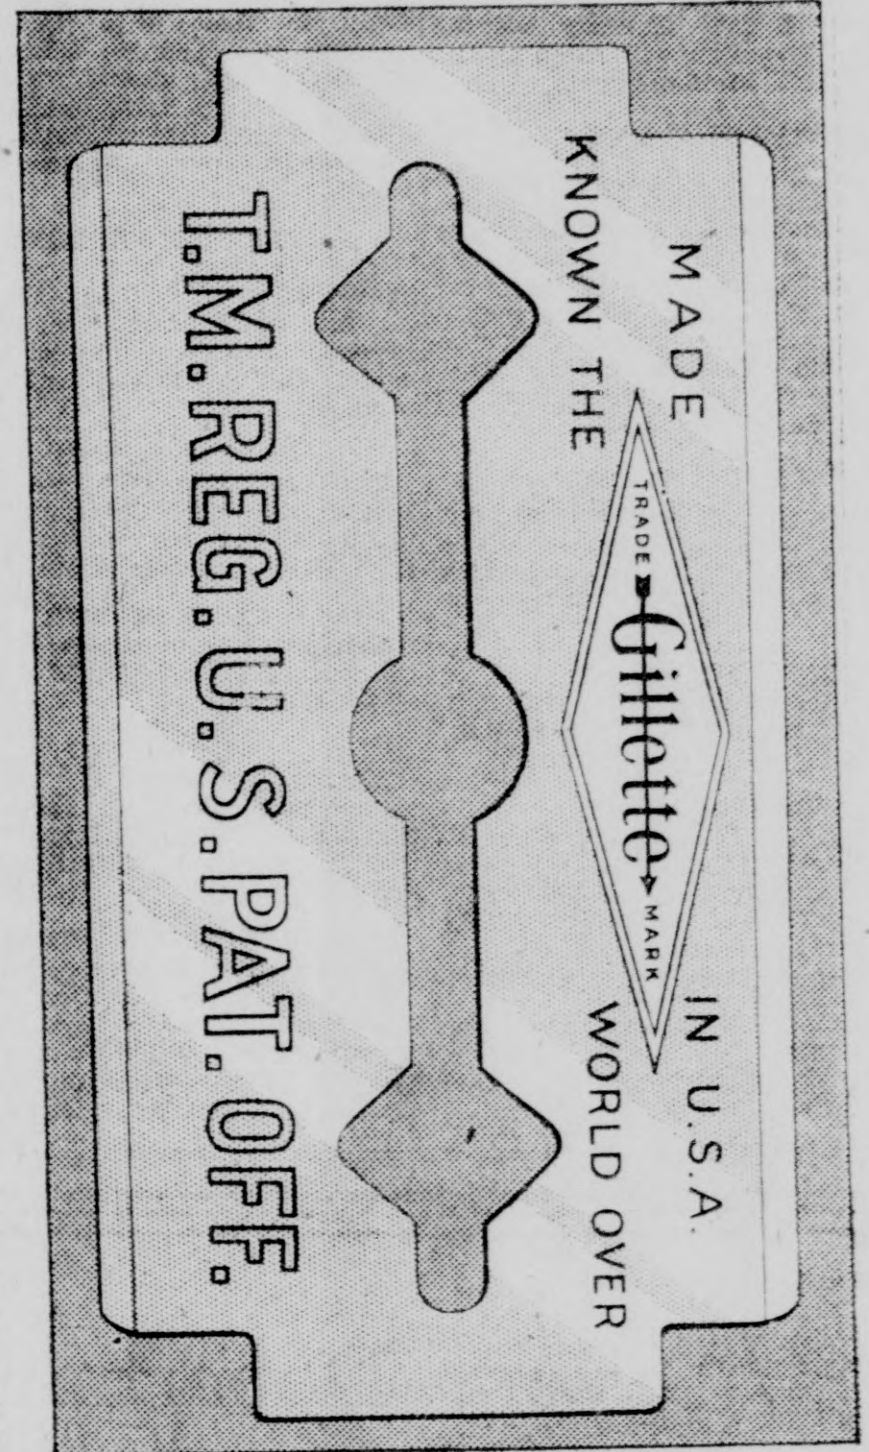

At almost every store you can get the New Gillette Razor, 24K. gold plated, supplied with one new blade and packed in a good-looking case, for only one dollar; also the New Gillette Blade in the new green packet which costs one dollar for ten, and fifty cents for the package of five.

Don't wait any longer to enjoy the most comfortable shave you've ever had in your life. Stop at your dealer's today.

GILLETTE SAFETY RAZOR CO., BOSTON, U.S.A.

Eclipse Of Sun To Be Seen In Western States On April 28

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, April 2.—The golfer and the ball player may think he has the center of the stage about now but Dame Nature is putting on a good show too. In addition to her wonderful Spring flowers she schedules an eclipse of the moon and the sun. On April 28 the moon will go into a small partial eclipse, visible to observers in the two Americas, on the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, and in southwestern Europe and northwest Africa.

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should know about Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour-belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases. A teaspoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cows' milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book "Useful Information." It will be sent you, FREE. Write The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N.Y.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

eclipse from a narrow strip of land about one half mile wide and several hundred miles long. This, according to the American Nature Association passes a little to the north of San Francisco and Sacramento, grazes the southern extremity of Honey Lake, crosses the Black Rock Desert and Kings River Valley in Nevada, the extreme southeastern corner of Oregon, and goes thence diagonally across Idaho a few miles south of Silver City and Boise City. From there it crosses the Rocky Mountains into Montana, where the eclipse changes from total to annular. In California the total eclipse will occur about 1 a. m. P. T.; in Idaho about 12:15 p. m. M. T., and in Montana a few minutes later than in Idaho.

In Berkeley, Sacramento and Boise City 99 per cent of the sun's diameter will be covered by the moon at greatest eclipse, in Carson City and Helena 97 per cent and 98 per cent respectively and in Butte about 99 per cent.

There will be a very large partial eclipse in all the northwestern states, the magnitude decreasing with the distance from the central line. In the Central States the American Nature Associations says the maximum eclipse will occur near two o'clock and in the Eastern States about fifteen or twenty minutes after three o'clock. At Washington the eclipse will begin at 2:09 p. m., the greatest eclipse will occur at 3:23 p. m. and the eclipse will end at 4:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time. The magnitude will be 49 per cent.

It will be 54 per cent in New York, 58 per cent in Boston, 64 per cent in Chicago, 5 per cent in St. Louis, 30 per cent in New Orleans, 36 per cent in New Orleans, 36 per cent in Atlanta. At the Lick Observatory on Mount Hamilton, Calif., the magnitude of the eclipse will be 97 per cent and at the Mt. Wilson Observatory near Pasadena, California, 85 per cent.

But there are other things of interest in the April sky. Venus will be visible low in the west at sunset. Jupiter is also in the western evening sky in Taurus. Mercury is at its greatest eastern elongation on April 27. It should be visible for about a week before and after this date in the northwestern sky after sunset. This is one of Mercury's favorable elongations and it should not be a difficult matter to find it in the evening twilight at the time mentioned. Mars enters the constellation of the southern sky.

Pisces this month and may be found in the southeast shortly before sunrise. The Big Dipper is approaching the meridian above the pole and The Sickle in Leo is due south at nine p. m. Orion, is disappearing below the southwestern horizon and Taurus, Gemini and Auriga and the two Dog Stars, Sirius and Procyon still linger in the west. Business Leaders Meet This Month

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 2.—A large number of Pennsylvania business leaders is expected to attend the eighteenth annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States here April 28, 29, 30 and May 1, when 3,000 American business directors will gather to discuss the financial situation of the country.

Fraternity Stunt Gets Man Jailed

Man Posing As College Fraternity Member To Obtain Easy Money—Is Caught Up

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, April 2.—What is believed to be the very latest wrinkle in genteel racketeering was revealed here today with the arrest of William Pruyn, 47, of Kansas City. Pruyn is or represents himself to be a college graduate and dresses and acts the part to perfection, according to circulars sent out by the Phi Delta Theta, in their publication, the "Palladium." Each member of the fraternity has a list of fraternal brothers telling of their class, their college and their collegiate accomplishments.

Detectives said Pruyn's modus operandi was to scan this list, look up prosperous members and then drop in on them, in free and easy style, to talk over the "good old college days."

A bit of embarrassment—a temporary shortage of cash—and an endorsement of Pruyn's check by the fraternal brother usually completed the visit, the detectives said.

Parading As Dead Man
Charles A. Saints, member of the fraternity, was the latest selected victim. Saints received his visitor who was profuse in his recollections of the boat races of 1903, Saints' class, the football games, the proms and other college activities.

The visitor's name, he said, was "Mr. Ballinger."
Pruyn's list proved his own downfall. Saints also had a list and had it handy.
True enough, there was a "Mr. Ballinger" on the list—but he had been dead for a year.
Pruyn left on the arm of detectives when Saints called police.

State Patrol May Take Hand

Valley Residents Dare Autoists To Run Them Down Then Jeer At Them

KITTANNING, Pa., April 2.—The Armstrong County Automobile Association has written to Harrisburg relative to the matter of pedestrians at Edgewood, Plumville, Leechburg and other towns in this vicinity who walk on the highways and literally dare motorists to hit them. At Edgewood the residents force motor drivers to stop and then jeer and laugh at them. There have been several accidents and the motor association is seeking some means as a safety measure to force the pedestrians to co-operate with the motor car drivers in preventing accidents.

Soft Heart Nets Grover A 5-Day Contempt Term

CHICAGO, April 2.—Joseph Rashkow, knows his groceries but not his town hall judge.

All of which, combined with a soft heart, sent him to jail for contempt of court today.

When Joseph found some of his groceries had been stolen he caused the arrest of three of his friends. Judge Alfred O. Erickson fined the trio $5 and costs each.

"I don't think they should be fined," pleaded Rashkow, with sudden compassion. "After all they are my friends."

"What do you know about being a judge?" snapped the judge.

"Nothing, but I know my groceries and I don't think the fine should be so high. I think—"

"You are just trying to back out," Judge Erickson barked.

"You go to jail for five days for contempt of court."

Editor Is Shot By Mayor His Paper Fought

YAZOO CITY, Miss., April 2.—A feud between a mayor and an editor resulted Tuesday in the shooting of F. R. Birdsall, 65, editor of the Yazoo Sentinel, and the suicide of Mayor J. O. Stricklin, 57.

Witnesses said Dr. R. E. Hawkins, 45, a dentist, and Mayor Stricklin were standing on Main street talking when Editor Birdsall approached.

The mayor said: "Well, I might as well have it out with you fellows now." He pointed a revolver at the dentist, who darted up a stairway and caught the bullet in his coat.

The mayor then fired twice at the editor, who fell. Witnesses said the mayor fired a third shot after the editor had fallen.

Then Mayor Stricklin walked to his automobile and drove to his son's undertaking establishment, where he fired a fatal bullet through his head.

The editor was taken to a hospital, where scant hope was held for his recovery.

In the last mayoralty election Mayor Stricklin defeated Dr. Hawkins, who had the support of Birdsall's tri-weekly newspaper. The campaign brought out the indictment in May, The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

1929, against Mayor Stricklin on the charge of calf stealing, of which he was acquitted.

Wolves Meet Tuesday Night At Elk's Club

Complete Plans For Testimonial Dinner To Attorney Charles J. Margiotti

The Wolves club held a regular dinner meeting at the Elks club Tuesday evening with 25 members in attendance. Following the dinner a business session was held with D. D. Valien, the president, presiding.

At that session, final arrangements were made for the testimonial dinner to be held Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the Castleton, in honor of Attorney Charles J. Margiotti of Punxsutawney. Indications are that there will be more than 200 in attendance at the dinner.

The regular meeting of the Wolves will be held in the Elks club in two weeks from last night.

The women of Winchester (Mass.) who attributes her 108 years to lack of worry may cause some persons to wonder how she spent her time.—The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

Living models will show the new

Lingerie

and

Foundation garments

Thursday, 7:30 P. M.—Second Floor

—If you are a woman who appreciates the subtle relationship between the new clothes and the things to be worn beneath them, we invite you to this exclusive showing of under-fashions. The garments will be interpreted in the light of spring styles, as they're worn by living models.

Miss Link, foundation garment stylist, will be in our corsetries section all day Thursday

—Her visit has one chief purpose: to advise you about your individual problems of style, if you will bring your questions to her. She will be glad to fit you personally, in correct foundation garments for your type... drawing upon Strouss-Hirshberg's extensive arrays of Nemo-flex, Nature's Rival, Bien Jolie, Poirette, Scanties, Doreite and Rose Marie corsetries. Among these are one-piece foundation garments, girdles, girdles with inner supporting belts, and wispy little step-ins... indeed, a score of garments for every type of figure.

Foundation garments, designed in the new manner, $5.00 to $16.50

(Second Floor)

"Vanity Fair" underthings —will have part in our Lingerie Fashion Show!

—if you can wait till Thursday night to see them! But if you are one whose fingers are set tingling by the sicken response of dainty undies, you may come in at any time during the day to be shown captivating new Vanity Fair fashions. It goes without saying that Vanity Fair undies are as durable as they're fragile-looking!

Some of the ravishing styles:

—"Onesalls"... solo garments that will go out of here in droves, once you've glimpsed their exquisite charm and usefulness. Step-in and bloomer knees. $5.00

—"Vanties", of silkiness, with the yoke in front that makes for extra comfort. Flesh and adoree. $2.75

—"Bobbicks"... short bloomers, with yoke front, in delicious pink. $3.00

(Second Floor)

—Pajamas... with trousers yoked in quite a swagger manner. They're in flesh-toned silkiness with pyramidal coral appliques on blouse and right leg. $8.00

—"Bandees" gain their name from tailored bands which close the knees of these short bloomers. $3.00

—Gowns... of silkiness, with pointed yoke neckline, in pink and adoree. $7.00

The Strouss-Hirshberg Co.

CORNER MILL AND NORTH STREETS

When you store your furs—

—it will be a decided gratification to know that they are safe in Strouss-Hirshberg's arctic vaults... For there they have the conscientious protection they deserve against moths, fire, theft, and the heat of summer. Before storing them, we'll repair them, if you wish!

(Second Floor)

Maybe you think you have a "favorite color"

—But see these new FROCKS!

$15.00

—They are colored in the new pastels that shade off delicately from the tones you've known before, and become dusty pinks, rose beige, opaline rose, misty green and aquatone (this last like green-blue water!)

—Oh, there are many new shades here... to modify your established notion of what's most becoming to you! And they're enlivening frocks for sport as subtly as those meant for parties and dates. Needless to say, they combine harmoniously in our printed chiffon and crepe frocks.

New washable silk frocks and "shirt waist dresses"—$15.00

—You can wear these new dresses with much greater security than the Gibson girl wore her shirtwaist frocks, for they are all in one piece... no matter how much some look like skirts with tuckin blouses. They're in candy-striped shirting, sleeveless, or with polo (elbow-length) sleeves.

(Second Floor)

Lace-on-straw and Lace-made-of-straw glorify these

$10.00

—And they'll flatter you, just as surely! Some are entirely lace... others of bakou or hairbraid admit an airy touch in insets, and brim extensions. Artful bows in pastel-velvet ribbon tie many with a chic that you're certain to envy... unless you wisely choose the style we have for you!

(Second Floor)

Always something new in our millinery section.

Every Department of the Store Shares in

Frew's 32nd ANNIVERSARY

—And it will be to your personal advantage to do likewise. For our thirty-two years of furniture retailing have placed us in position to offer values that are greater than ever before. We have established sources of buying. We have achieved an organization that is strong, efficient, yet economical to run. All the advantages of our experience are reflected in the extraordinary values we are putting forward, during our Anniversary celebration.

All New Furniture—

—You can protect your furniture investment by insisting upon furniture that is well-designed and style-right... new! This you invariably find at Frew's. And it is satisfactory to know that you do not have to pay a premium for good taste, in this store. The furniture you'll see during our Anniversary is all new, and expresses the quality of good taste in attractive measure... no matter how small the cost.

Our Standard of Quality Never Changes

—We bar from our floors at all times such furniture as is ill-proportioned, badly constructed, or poorly finished. We are as exacting in our demands of fine quality as we are determined that our prices shall be modest, in consideration of the value they represent.

Our Interior Decorating Service

—is at your command during this event, as at all times. We'll plan an entire new scheme of house furnishing for you... or advise you on the placing of the furniture you now possess. In either case, no cost or obligation results from the consultation.

Our Convenient Budget Plan

—permits you to divide payments for your furniture over a period of months, if you choose. There's nothing complicated about apportioning yourself of this plan... and it is offered as freely during our Anniversary celebration as at any other time of the year.

1,897,128 Pupils Attend Schools Survey Reveals

Department Of Public Instruction Studies Results Of Summary In State

HARRISBURG, April 2.—A summary of the reports covering attendance in the public schools of Pennsylvania during the past school year shows that there was a net enrollment of 1,897,128 pupils in both elementary and high school departments. This was an increase of 13,705 pupils over the previous year. Of this number 963,741 were boys and 933,387 were girls.

This army of school children exceeds in number the total population in each of the twenty-five of the forty-eight states in the Union. If arranged in a column of fours, there would be a ribbon of boys and girls reaching approximately across the State from the New Jersey boundary to the Ohio dividing line.

Of the total enrollment 1,513,867 were registered in the elementary grades and 383,261 in the high school grades, including 106,473 in the seventh and eighth years of the junior high school. When expressed in terms of percents it is found that 79.3 per cent of the enrollment was in the elementary school grades while 20.2 per cent was in high school. That more and more pupils are taking advantage of the opportunity for a high school education compared with those of ten and five years ago. In 1918-1919, 8.2 per cent of all pupils were enrolled in the high school, while five years later, this was increased to 15.2 per cent. This means that for every 100 pupils enrolled in the public schools of Pennsylvania, 8 were found in the high schools in 1919 where ten years later 20 pupils were registered in the same division.

The school census shows 465,312 pupils from 6 to 8 years of age, 1,178,896 from 8 to 14 years of age and 352,692 from 14 to 16 years of age, or a total of 1,995,100 pupils. The law provides that every child, being a resident of any school district in Pennsylvania, between the ages of 6 to 21 years, may attend the public schools of the district, and between the ages of 8 and 16 is required to attend such schools except when excused for certain reasons provided in the statutes. These pupils belonged to the schools an aggregate of 131,587,719 days and attended an aggregate of 291,150,659 days, which represents an exceptionally high record. While it is commonly believed that the poorest attendance is in the rural districts, the figures indicate that large cities in Pennsylvania show about the same percentage of pupils marked present. The pupils who were absent from school each day in the school year missed a total of 44,869,866 sessions of school, each for one or each afternoon being known as a single session. Of the 44,869,866 of session absences, 2,168,241 were due to parental neglect, 39,336 to illegal employment, and 381,637 to truancy. The remaining absences amounting to 42,280,652 were due to sickness and other legitimate reasons.

Sentence Court Friday Morning

Youths Responsible For Murder
Of Clark Rea Will Come Up For Sentence

Prisoners who have been convicted or who pleaded guilty at the term of quarter sessions court, will be sentenced at a session of court to be held by Judges Hildebrand and Chambers on Friday morning.

Among those who will come up for sentence are Charles Llewellyn, Jesse Martin, Jack McDevitt and William Grimm, who either pleaded or were found guilty of the murder of Clark Rea, Neshannock township farmer. In these cases Llewellyn and McDevitt pleaded guilty and Martin and Grimm were convicted. The verdicts returned by the jury were murder in the first degree with life imprisonment, in the cases of Martin and Grimm, and a similar finding was made by the court in the cases of Llewellyn and McDevitt.

Applications for a new trial have been made in the cases of Irene Schroeder and Glen Dague, found guilty of the murder of Corporal Brady Paul, with death penalty. They will not be sentenced until the motions for a new trial are disposed of. An application for a new trial has also been made in the case of Bertha Blunt, who was found guilty of the murder of John Henry King. It will be necessary to dispose of this motion before sentence is passed.

Others convicted of posing liquor, driving while intoxicated, assault and battery and other charges will be sentenced.

Jared M. B. Reis Is Re-Appointed

New Castle Man Again Named On State Game Commission
By Governor

Recognizing the invaluable service rendered by him to the game commission and the sportsmen of the state, Governor John S. Fisher has again appointed Jared M. B. Reis, of this city as a member of the State Game Commission.

Mr. Reis has served for many years as a member of this commission and has given largely of his time and money to the advancement of better hunting for the sportsmen. He has been vice president of the Commission for some time.

At the same time of Mr. Reis' re-appointment, Governor Fisher announced the re-appointment of two other members, Adolf Muller of Norristown and Francis H. Coffin of Dunmore.

March Temperatures Were Below Normal

Temperatures during the month of March averaged 1.6 degrees below the normal, a considerable contrast with March of last year, when the mean average temperature for the month was 5.8 degrees above the normal. The mean maximum temperature during the month was 44.6 degrees, the mean minimum temperature 25.5 degrees and the mean average 35 degrees.

The greatest temperature during the month was 70 degrees on the 18th while the minimum temperature was 11 degrees on the 3rd. The greatest daily range being 33 degrees on the 18th.

The total precipitation during the month was 3.51 inches, while the greatest daily rainfall was .85 inches. Snowfall during the month amounted to 14.7 inches. During the month there were 21 days when the temperature was 51 inches or more. Days clear during the month were 12, partly cloudy 5 and cloudy 14.

The precipitation during the month was .76 inches more than the maximum. In March of 1929, the precipitation was 59 inches more than the normal, while the temperature was 5.8 degrees above normal. The average river stage during March of 1930 was 7.9 feet, while in 1929 it was 9 feet, the difference being due to the higher temperature, when more water was released from the ground.

Agent Will Begin Duties Thursday

C. J. Calahan, Alexander's Successor,

Sanitary Officers Have Strong Legs

Three Men Make 7,659 Inspections Or Trips During Past Year

Each member of the city sanitary and food inspection force of the municipal health department made approximately seven thousand trips during 1929, which was quite wearing on shoe leather, according to a report covering their activities for 1929. There are three men who do their work.

Sanitary inspections and nuisances called for 5,600 trips and food inspections totaled 2,059. The men handle both lines of work which totaled 7,659 trips or an average slightly more than seven trips each day. Recently council bought an auto for milk plant inspections in rural sections.

Keeps Check On Drinking Water

A close check is kept on water for drinking and bathing purposes in New Castle according to a report compiled by Dr. William L. Steen.

Samples of water from that served by the New Castle water company, Cascade Park, wells and springs and also of the water in the various swimming pools at various institutions were examined last year.

The samples examined totaled 361. A check on the water is maintained so that any contamination may be discovered quickly.

According to a statement by Dr. Steen, issued recently the present water supply is very good.

Logan Not Guilty But Pay The Costs

In the case of Joseph A. Logan, charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, which was tried before Judge Chambers, the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty, but pay the costs. It was claimed that Logan operated a truck belonging to the New Castle Water Company while intoxicated. Logan denied that he was intoxicated, claiming that he was sick. The jury believed that there was enough doubt about the case to justify the verdict rendered.

Spend $33,600 For Four Residences Here

Expenditure for construction and alterations of property here during March cost approximately $55,510, according to statistics furnished today by Neil Williams, municipal bureau of building.

Four dwellings were started, with a consequent cost of $33,600; garages will cost $5,305, and minor building $310, representing $39,215 for new construction.

Remodelling of residences and buildings will cost $16,295.

THE QUESTION BOX

CENTRAL PRESS
WASHINGTON BUREAU

Answers to questions of information and fact can be obtained by writing to Central Press Bureau, P. O. Box 126, Washington, D. C., and enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. No answers will be given to marital, medical or legal questions.

Several readers of the Question Box have requested information concerning the Revolutionary war. Unfortunately only fragmentary war department records are available concerning these heroes of the struggle for American independence because of the destruction of so many important records by the British when they captured the capital during the war of 1812. Considerable data, however, can be obtained from Heitman's "Historical Register and Dictionary of the United States Army" (1789 to 1903), a copy of which may be obtained at any up-to-date library. Various patriotic societies, such as the Sons of the American Revolution and the Daughters of the American Revolution, also have considerable data on this subject. In addition many historical societies of the states concerned in the Revolutionary war have preserved valuable information.

What have been the results of perpetual motion experiments? Search for a machine of this kind was begun many centuries ago, and though physicists have pronounced such a device impossible, there still are many persons who hope to continue the quest. Most of these seekers are ignorant of the law of mechanics and the results of experiments which have been made along this line.

Our friendly group disagrees as to which is the more powerful, the press or the pulpit. Which is? Both have their places and, working together, may accomplish almost any aim. With the millions of readers who snatch hourly editions from the hands of newsboys following their favorite newspapers daily, there can be no doubt of the power of the press. It cannot be estimated. Campaigns for betterment of conditions of the masses have been conducted most successfully by newspapers throughout the country. Such have been brought to successful conclusions over shorter periods than could have been possible through the pulpit.

What substance will make cloth gasoline-tight, and still leave it flexible, so that it will not crack or break in working? The textile section of the bureau of standards reports that for ordinary purposes a coating of pyroxylin or cellulose acetate probably would be satisfactory.

How much life insurance is there in force in the United States? According to the last figures available for 1928, there were 114,994,512 life insurance policies representing a total of $95,206,314,691.

The Plaingrove orchestra of the school motored to Mt. Jackson Friday evening. Several selections were rendered during the evening.

Peter's Adventures

Was Dragon-Fly ashamed of himself? Did he regret ever having been a larva and gobbling up his neighbors? He did not! Peter could see that at once, and having learned a lot from his experiences in insect-land, he knew it would only be a waste of time to argue with his friend. Besides, it might be dangerous. So the boy said never a word. Dragon-Fly Number Two, however, interrupted his brother.

"Be sure you don't get the wrong idea about us larvae, from what my brother says," remarked he, and looked so serious that Peter almost giggled. "No larva is always as slow as he may have made you believe. He can move quick enough when he has to. You saw that fellow make his get-away just now. How do you think he did it?"

"I haven't the least idea," replied the boy, who had wondered how the cannibal in the pool had been able to shoot off and away in such a hurry.

Twas all because of the spikes on the end of his tail! declared Dragon-Fly Number Two, looking very proud indeed, as he made the explanation. "Every larva has them. You see, boy, a larva in the pool has to breathe the air, but this is no easy thing for a fellow to do, under water. So a larva has a long tube that runs straight through his body and ends in five spikes on the end of his tail. The water goes in and out through this tube and through his breathing pores he gets all the air there is in the water. Then what do you think happens. He wants to get rid of the water in the tube so he gives a jerk and spouts it out and speeds through the water. Oh what fun! Believe it or not, as larvae, we can shoot through the pool almost as fast as we can fly through the air, only of course we can't go as far! I declare I half wish I were back in the pool pouncing on stupid prey too stupid to get out of our way."

"Like a shark!" cried Peter.

Westminster Debate Team Returns From South; Won Four Of Six Contests

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., April 2.—Traveling 4000 miles into 12 states and the District of Columbia, the Westminster College debate team, with Dr. C. A. Dawson, coach, ended their season during the spring recess. The team members returned to New Wilmington yesterday.

Dr. Dawson, James Chambers, New Castle; Fred Williams, Carnegie; Frank Douda, Beaver; Paul Campbell, Pittsburgh; and Scott Hadden, Westville, left here Saturday, March 15 on the first leg of their extended trip which took them through Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, West Virginia, Alabama, Kentucky, Tennessee, Ohio, and District of Columbia.

Of the eight intercollegiate debates on the trip schedule, six were decision contests, and the United Presbyterian forensic stars won four of the six contests. Decisions were won over Western Maryland at Westminster, Md.; Erskine College, Due West, S. C.; Transylvania College, Lexington, Ky.; and Southern College, Lakeland, Fla.

At Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla., a radio debate was held. This contest was broadcast from the Fort Gatlin Hotel, Orlando, Fla. The debate with Spring Hill College, Mobile, Ala., was also broadcast from the Elks' auditorium, Mobile, where more than 400 people listened to the debate.

The team went from here to Waynesburg, Pa., where Waynesburg College was met in the first contest March 15. Two nights later the debaters were in Westminster, Md., where Western Maryland was met.

Erskine College, Due West, S. C., was met three nights later, March 20. On the following night the Westminster team debated at Georgia Wesleyan, Macon, Ga.

Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla., was met March 24 in a radio debate broadcasted from the studio. The next night found the team at Southern College, Lakeland, Fla. Two nights following, Spring Hill College, Mobile, Ala., was met in a radio debate. The final contest was at Transylvania College, Lexington, Ky., March 29.

Following the Transylvania contest, the Westminster team motored from Lexington to Chillicothe, O., thence to Washington, Pa., and home. Scott Hadden, a member of the sophomore class, drove his father's car which was gladly given to the team for the trip. He averaged more than 400 miles a day and had no motor trouble on the entire trip.

Dr. Dawson said yesterday that a quite general interest in college debating was manifest in every college visited. The Westminster team was heartily welcomed at each school because of the stimulus the visiting northern team gave to the activity in the several schools. Particularly enthusiastic and large audiences greeted the men at the Erskine, Georgia Wesleyan, Southern, and Spring Hill contests, and very courteous reception and entertainment were provided everywhere.

Three questions were debated during the trip: Resolved: That the evils of the machine age outweighed the benefits; Resolved: That the United States should withdraw from the Kellogg peace pact; and Resolved: That the nations of the world should adopt a policy of total disarmament, except what armed forces and machines are needed for police protection.

Two-man and three-man teams gave the four debates: Chambers, Williams, Campbell, and Douda, an opportunity to alternate so that each team took part in four or five contests during the trip.

Not all the time spent on the southern trip was devoted to debating, however. Dr. Dawson reports that in addition to the colleges on the debate schedule, University of Florida, University of Georgia, University of Virginia, University of Kentucky, Mercer University, and the United States Naval Academy were visited, while five or six other colleges were passed en route.

Members of the team had an opportunity to visit both the United States Senate and the House of Representatives while in session; visited the Congressional Library; stopped at Daytona Beach where they were shown the Silver Bullet in its garage; visited the Bok Singing Tower in Florida; and spent some time at a number of historic places such as Harper's Ferry, Natural Bridge, Frederick, St. Augustine, Cowpens, Kings Mountain, Monticello, Antietam, and the Shenandoah Valley.

A very delightful reception was accorded the team at Georgia Wesleyan, a girls' college. Following the debate, a formal reception and dance party was arranged for the team. A number of Mercer University men were present at this affair to help entertain the Westminster group.

The record made by the Westminster debate team in 10 contests, eight of which were decision debates, shows five victories and three defeats. Allegheny College was defeated at Meadville early in March, while Bethany College won a decision at Bethany, W. Va., a few nights later.

The southern trip arranged this year was the most pretentious ever made for a Westminster team, but the fine reception given the men on the team and the wonderful opportunity for educational travel almost make certain another extended trip for the platform artists next year.

Bo Broadway by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NEW YORK, April 2.—The affable little chap with the pleasant smile and the poll thatched with reddish down, who greets you at the portico of the swiftest benzine buggy shop on Fifty-seventh street, is none other than Signor Ugo d'Annunzio, son of G. d'Annunzio, poet, soldier and international nose-thumper. Ugo, who is New York agent for the most famous of foreign Swank-Wagons, expects soon to "ghost" the story of his Delectable Dad for George Bye, Big-Wig Lit'ry Agent of hereabouts.

PASSING.
The Columbia Theatre at Broadway and 47th street is about to be demolished to make way for a new Radio-Keith-Orpheum shiftin' picture temple.

One by one the landmarks of the Lane are trampled out of memory by the fugacious years — harvested by the house wrecker.

The Columbia was Burley-cue's last stand on Broadway. And with it will pass "Columbia Beach," the patch of curbstone territory outside the theatre where, through the long Summer days, impecunious "hams" were wont to foregather in shrunken Palm Beach suits, to rock on their heels, swing their bamboo canes and indulge in hopped dreams.

Lord, Lord, what a foolish thing time is!

QUITE RIGHT!
In the old days Alias Jones was a hard-working re-write man on Park Row who daily drank his lunch with the rest of the journalistic geniuses at a neighborhood Temple of Bacchus known and honored as The Oil Can. Those were the days ante-dating Babbitt, Boole and Borah, when all the hats in America were not made on the same block.

Recently I encountered Alias in the ornate publicity office of a large film company. He was reclining in a red leather chair with his pedal extremities on a rose-wood desk, hurling pre-Adamite bromides at a secretary.

"Hy-dy, old chap," he called, with a Nancy Astor twang. "Behold in me a perfect example of the modern, high-power executive. Bottle in the nearby and handy cellophane-cigars in the drawer—feet on the table—and nothing in the head!"

ADD RACKETS.

Fanny Brice, the lady who used to warble so plaintively about "Mon Homme," when Nick Arnstein, her ex-spouse, was languishing in Leavenworth penitentiary, crowded a few minutes out of a crowded life the other day to air her views "touchin' on an appertainin' to" etiquette.

"Fanny" paid her respects to Emily Post, the Etiquetteur who, like the late Ell Nye, feels that if she can get one man, who now wipes his hands on his pants, to come up a step higher, and wipe them on the tablecloth, she will be at home lived in vain.

Nickey Arnstein's ex-wife sneers at that laudable Post ambition.

"The etiquette business," gurgles Fanny, "is a racket, honey — a racket that requires real strength of character to overcome. What isn't real isn't right; and if etiquette clutters up your life—why etiquette is 'out.' A pickle in the hand is worth five on the fork!"

Here's hoping that Broadway doesn't take Aunt Fanny too seriously. If you ever drop into one of those Gold Letter Java Joints in the neighborhood or Scandal Square some Sunday afternoon about candle-lighting time, and the boys and girls exercising their tonsils on the Battle Creek nectar, you'll understand that when Fanny Brice sneers at "etiquette," she isn't making life any easier for the rest of us."

STILL GOING STRONG
De Wolfe Hopper, the aged and much-married musical comedy star, is still going strong. It's impossible to think how old he is. Forty years ago he was "knocking 'em dead" at the Broadway Theatre. And he has no more hair on his head now than he then had. His poll was ever innocent of hair. He never even had eyebrows or eyelashes; and of late years his face has taken on a purplish copper blue. All this added to his enormous height makes him a remarkable figure.

He is much in demand as an after-dinner speaker and recently told of a nervous toastmaster at a movie dinner in Hollywood.

"And next, ladies and gentlemen, I am privileged to present that sterling star—that he, beauty of the screen who has charmed a million hearts—that, etc., etc., etc.—Miss—eh, Jessie Lasky!"

Buy why were you disappointed in the great man? Greatness doesn't consist in seeming great to strangers.

Gas Fumes Overcome Mill Street Family

Overcome While Working In Their Apartment On Monday

Mrs. Charles B. Strong of 31½ North Mill street, and several members of her family were overcome Tuesday while working about the apartment, by gas fumes, probably monoxide gas, and required the services of a doctor to help them recover. They are today in a much improved condition and will apparently be none the worse of their unusual experience. A physician called was almost overcome on entering the apartment, and saved himself from the same experience by opening up all windows and other openings of the apartment. The members of the household overcome were all of a sudden stricken by the effects of the gas. It is not known definitely what caused the trouble because only the usual gas fires were in use, for heating water and cooking a meal when the trouble occurred.

Glenna Collett Leads Opponent

(International News Service) PINEHURST COUNTRY CLUB, PINEHURST, N. C., April 2.—Miss Glenna Collett, women's national champion, was leading Mrs. Leo Federman 5 up at the turn today in their quarter-finals match in the annual women's north and south amateur championship here.

Miss Maureen Orcutt, medalist, of Haworth, N. J., was 5 up on Mrs. O. S. Hill, veteran Kansas City star, at the conclusion of the first nine holes of their match, while Miss Edith Quier, Reading, Pa., was leading Miss Virginia Van Wie, the youthful Chicago shooter, 2 up.

Miss Louise Rordyke, Youngstown, O., led Miss Helen Hicks, Hewlett, L. I., 1 up at the turn.

Miss Collett is defending champion.

HOOVER REFUSES TO OUST HUSTON UNDER PRESSURE

(Continued From Page One) assumed large proportions in the past few days. Primaries Nearing. The approach of the campaign and the absolute necessity for a smooth-running national organization to collect funds for prosecution of a score of hard party fights in November is the spectre that is haunting Republican candidates of high and low degree. Preliminary efforts at collection of funds for party work has been retarded by the uncertainty over Huston's status. The treasury is not in a robust condition for campaign purposes, and nothing is being done about it at the very time that the workers should be getting out into the harvest field.

The situation, however, has reached a stalemate, with congressional leaders and the White House both awaiting each other's move. Meanwhile, the senate is preparing to stage a Roman holiday over Muscle Shoals and Chairman Huston's long connection with the lobby against government operation.

Two Men Arrested On Robbery Charge

Napoleon Rocco and Felix Johnson were apprehended by Officer Dukes early this morning after they were alleged by E. C. Burnside, 519 Cascade street, to have robbed him of some thing over $20 in a Long avenue pool-room.

Rocco was arrested on South Mill street, as Dukes and Burnside were searching the South Side district in the police car. Johnson made his escape then but was apprehended later at his home. They were still being held this afternoon pending the further investigation and possible adjustment of the case.

Motorist Drives Into Water Co. Ditch

According to the report made to the police this morning by H. B. Richards of the New Castle Water Company, Steve Wilco, an employee of the company was injured this morning on one shoulder, when a car bearing Ohio license 632-792 drove through a barricade in front of a ditch of the company in the Croton avenue district and into the ditch in which Wilco was working. While Wilco was being taken to a physician to have his injury attended to, the driver of the car got his machine out of the ditch and drove away without telling his identity.

Sanction Extended To British Racer

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, April 2.—The American Automobile Association today extended indefinitely its sanction of the attempts Kaye Don, British racer, plans to make at Daytona Beach, Fla., to establish a new world's motor speed record. E. Warren Baker, Jacksonville, Fla., member of the contest board, will have charge of the speed trials. Reports to the Association indicate weather will not be favorable at the beach until Saturday.

GET TOGETHER OVER NEW TREATY

New rum treaty negotiations under way between Canada and the United States are expected to make possible a sharp reduction of the anti-smuggling forces now concentrated along the northern border. A bill now is before the Canadian parliament which would make clearances of liquor for the United States illegal. If this passes, Seymour Lowman, right, assistant secretary of the U. S. treasury, looks for the transfer of bootlegging operations from the Great Lakes to the north Atlantic. William L. Mackenzie King, prime minister of Canada, will ask for a stronger protection against the smuggling of silks and cigarettes into Canada under the terms of the new treaty.

While not officially announcing the candidacy of State Senator George R. Fearon, of Syracuse, N. Y., for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, party leaders in his city have launched a boom which they hope will bring him that honor.

U. S. Battleships Carry Odd Assortment Of Mascots

By WILLIAM PARKER
International News Service Special Correspondent

U. S. S. TENNESSEE APRIL 2.—There is a parrot aboard the U. S. S. Tennessee, as the U. S. battle fleet is plowing through the Caribbean sea in war maneuvers, and every time the 14-inch guns, or anti-aircraft guns are fired, the parrot exclaims: "—, we missed again!"

The parrot really is telling a falsehood, for the Tennessee has an unusually high record for marksmanship, but the crew must have its joke as well as its mascot.

Mascots, however, rapidly are becoming passe in the American navy. Senior officers say they are a nuisance and occasionally provoke unnecessary situations.

The battleship California, being named for the state which flies the bear flag once received a present of a live bear mascot from a kindly disposed person with good intentions. The bear quickly adapted itself to ship life. It developed, however, an annoying habit of refusing to sleep anywhere but in the admiral's bunk. The most dignified of admirals has his human moments, but it was too much of a strain on even an admiral's sense of humor constantly to be routing a bear out of his bunk so he could go to bed. The bear was put ashore.

All sorts of strategy is practiced to smuggle a mascot aboard a ship past the officer's deck. Recently several boys tried to bring a wild bear to a ship. Dogs are popular as mascots. Only dog mascots like other animals are overfed, everybody, officers and men feeling duty bound to see the animals get sufficient food, which usually means too much food, resulting in a fat animal with a torpid liver and a short life.

One ship had a monkey mascot. It never could get over its tree climbing habits. Once it climbed a mast and wrecked the radio antennae.

Another ship had a seal. It became very friendly and heartily enjoyed playing tag with the men. Unluckily it took a dislike to aviators. One day the aviators were ordered to catapult their planes from a battleship. An aviator found the seal in the cockpit of his plane. It wouldn't get out, and attacked him when he tried to dispossess it.

Chaplain A. N. Park, Jr., of the Tennessee paid $1.00 for a baby goat, while assigned to the mine layer Baltimore, in 1917. The goat cried so pitifully the first night that he intended to return it to shore the next day. The crew prevailed upon him to keep the goat. It endeared itself to the men in the brig (jail) and they taught it to steal tobacco and bring it to them.

When Chaplain Park was transferred, the men raised a fund of $150 and offered it to him for the goat. He declined the money and presented the mascot to the crew.

A classic of the world war, still being told in the navy is that of a bear mascot. It was stolen from a marine station and smuggled aboard a transport bound for Europe. The marine officer could not see anything funny in having his bear stolen so he made the subject an official matter, demanding the court martial of the officer he believed responsible for the theft.

Correspondence passed between numerous departments for several years, with responsibility for the theft, unfixing and insufficient evidence being obtained to court martial the officer. The correspondence probably still would be going on were it not for a high ranking officer in Washington who possessed a sense of humor which crept into his report after an investigation.

"While I cannot find definite evidence that Lieut.—stole the bear owned by Capt.—," his report read "there appears little doubt but what Lieut.— got Capt.—'s goat."

President Hoover Is Family Chief

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 2.—President Hoover cleared up a very important question today—that of who is to be head of the White House family.

He is, by his own admission. In the course of a discussion of the forthcoming census in which he stressed its great importance and expressed the hope that all of the 120,000,000 odd persons in the United States would cooperate, the President was asked who would furnish the census enumerator with the White House information.

"I think I shall, as head of the family," he replied with a smile.

Victim Of Crash Dies From Injury

JOHNSTOWN, April 2.—Virgilio Cicota, 41, of Twin Rocks, who suffered a fracture of the neck yesterday when an automobile in which he was riding overturned, died today in a local hospital. Gus Mardenti, driver of the automobile which wrecked, was arrested today and lodged in the county jail in default of bail to answer a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

Why Fat WHEN SO MANY FIND IT EASY TO REDUCE

All can see everywhere that countless people have found the right way to fight fat. Slender figures now prevail. Excess fat has largely disappeared. Mark the people you know who in late years have gained new youth and beauty, new health and vigor, by combating fat.

One great reason lies in the discovery that most fat people have an under-active gland. Its failure to control nutrition permits too much food to form fat. Modern physicians, intreating obesity, combat that cause.

Their method is the basis of Marmola prescription tablets. Each box contains the formula, also the reasons for the good results. People have used Marmola for 22 years—millions of boxes of it. And the results have come without abnormal exercise or diet.

Why retain your excess fat when so many have ended theirs? Go try their method—try it now. Get Marmola, read the book in the box. Take four tablets daily, as directed, and watch the changes that occur. Do this in justice to yourself, to please your family and friends. You will be delighted.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 a box. Any druggist who is out will gladly order for you.

Mercer Parole Officer Is Busy

Almost Two Hundred Prisoners Have Been Placed In Thompson's Charge

MERCER, Pa., April 2.—Since his appointment as county Parole Officer nine years ago Rev. W. T. K. Thompson has never been as busy as at the time he states.

The reason is assigned to the fact that he has now in charge 195 men, women and young men who have been released from prison sentences or paroled in his care.

The major portion of them are paying fines and costs due the county and must be visited at intervals to collect. There is perhaps no man in the county in closer touch with the economic conditions as a result. The officer states that regular collections are just out of the question and that all that can be done is to wait.

The major portion of his charges cannot secure steady employment and those with a job are only working half time with most of them having families to support.

Rev. Thompson addressed the members of the Grove City Commercial Club Monday evening.

PLOWING IS DONE
Mercer county farmers have been taking advantage of weather conditions favorable to plowing during the last month.

The major portion of the plowing is finished for the early crops of oats it is expected. Plowing for corn land will start soon it is expected.

If the spring weather just arrives now to make possible crop planting and their growth this fall will find county farmers with no complaints to offer.

LAMB HAS TWO HEADS
A two-headed lamb born on the Everett Wilson farm near Mercer died yesterday. The lamb was a twin and its mate gives every promise of growing into a healthy sheep.

CONTAGION IS HEAVY
For the month of March there were 366 cases of communicable disease reported at the health bureau here. During the month 324 were released from quarantine. Of the cases reported 171 were measles, 93 mumps, 64 chickenpox, 19 scarlet fever, 7 whooping cough, 3 diphtheria, 3 pneumonia, 2 each tuberculosis, erysipelas and trichiniasis.

Of the measles cases reported 56 were from Greenville, 39 Sharon, 25 Grove City, 2 Sharpsville. Of the mumps 29 Sharon, 22 Farrell, 21 Wheatland. Of the scarlet fever where the real danger exists the bureau head points out 8 were from Sharpsville, 4 Sharon, 1 Farrell.

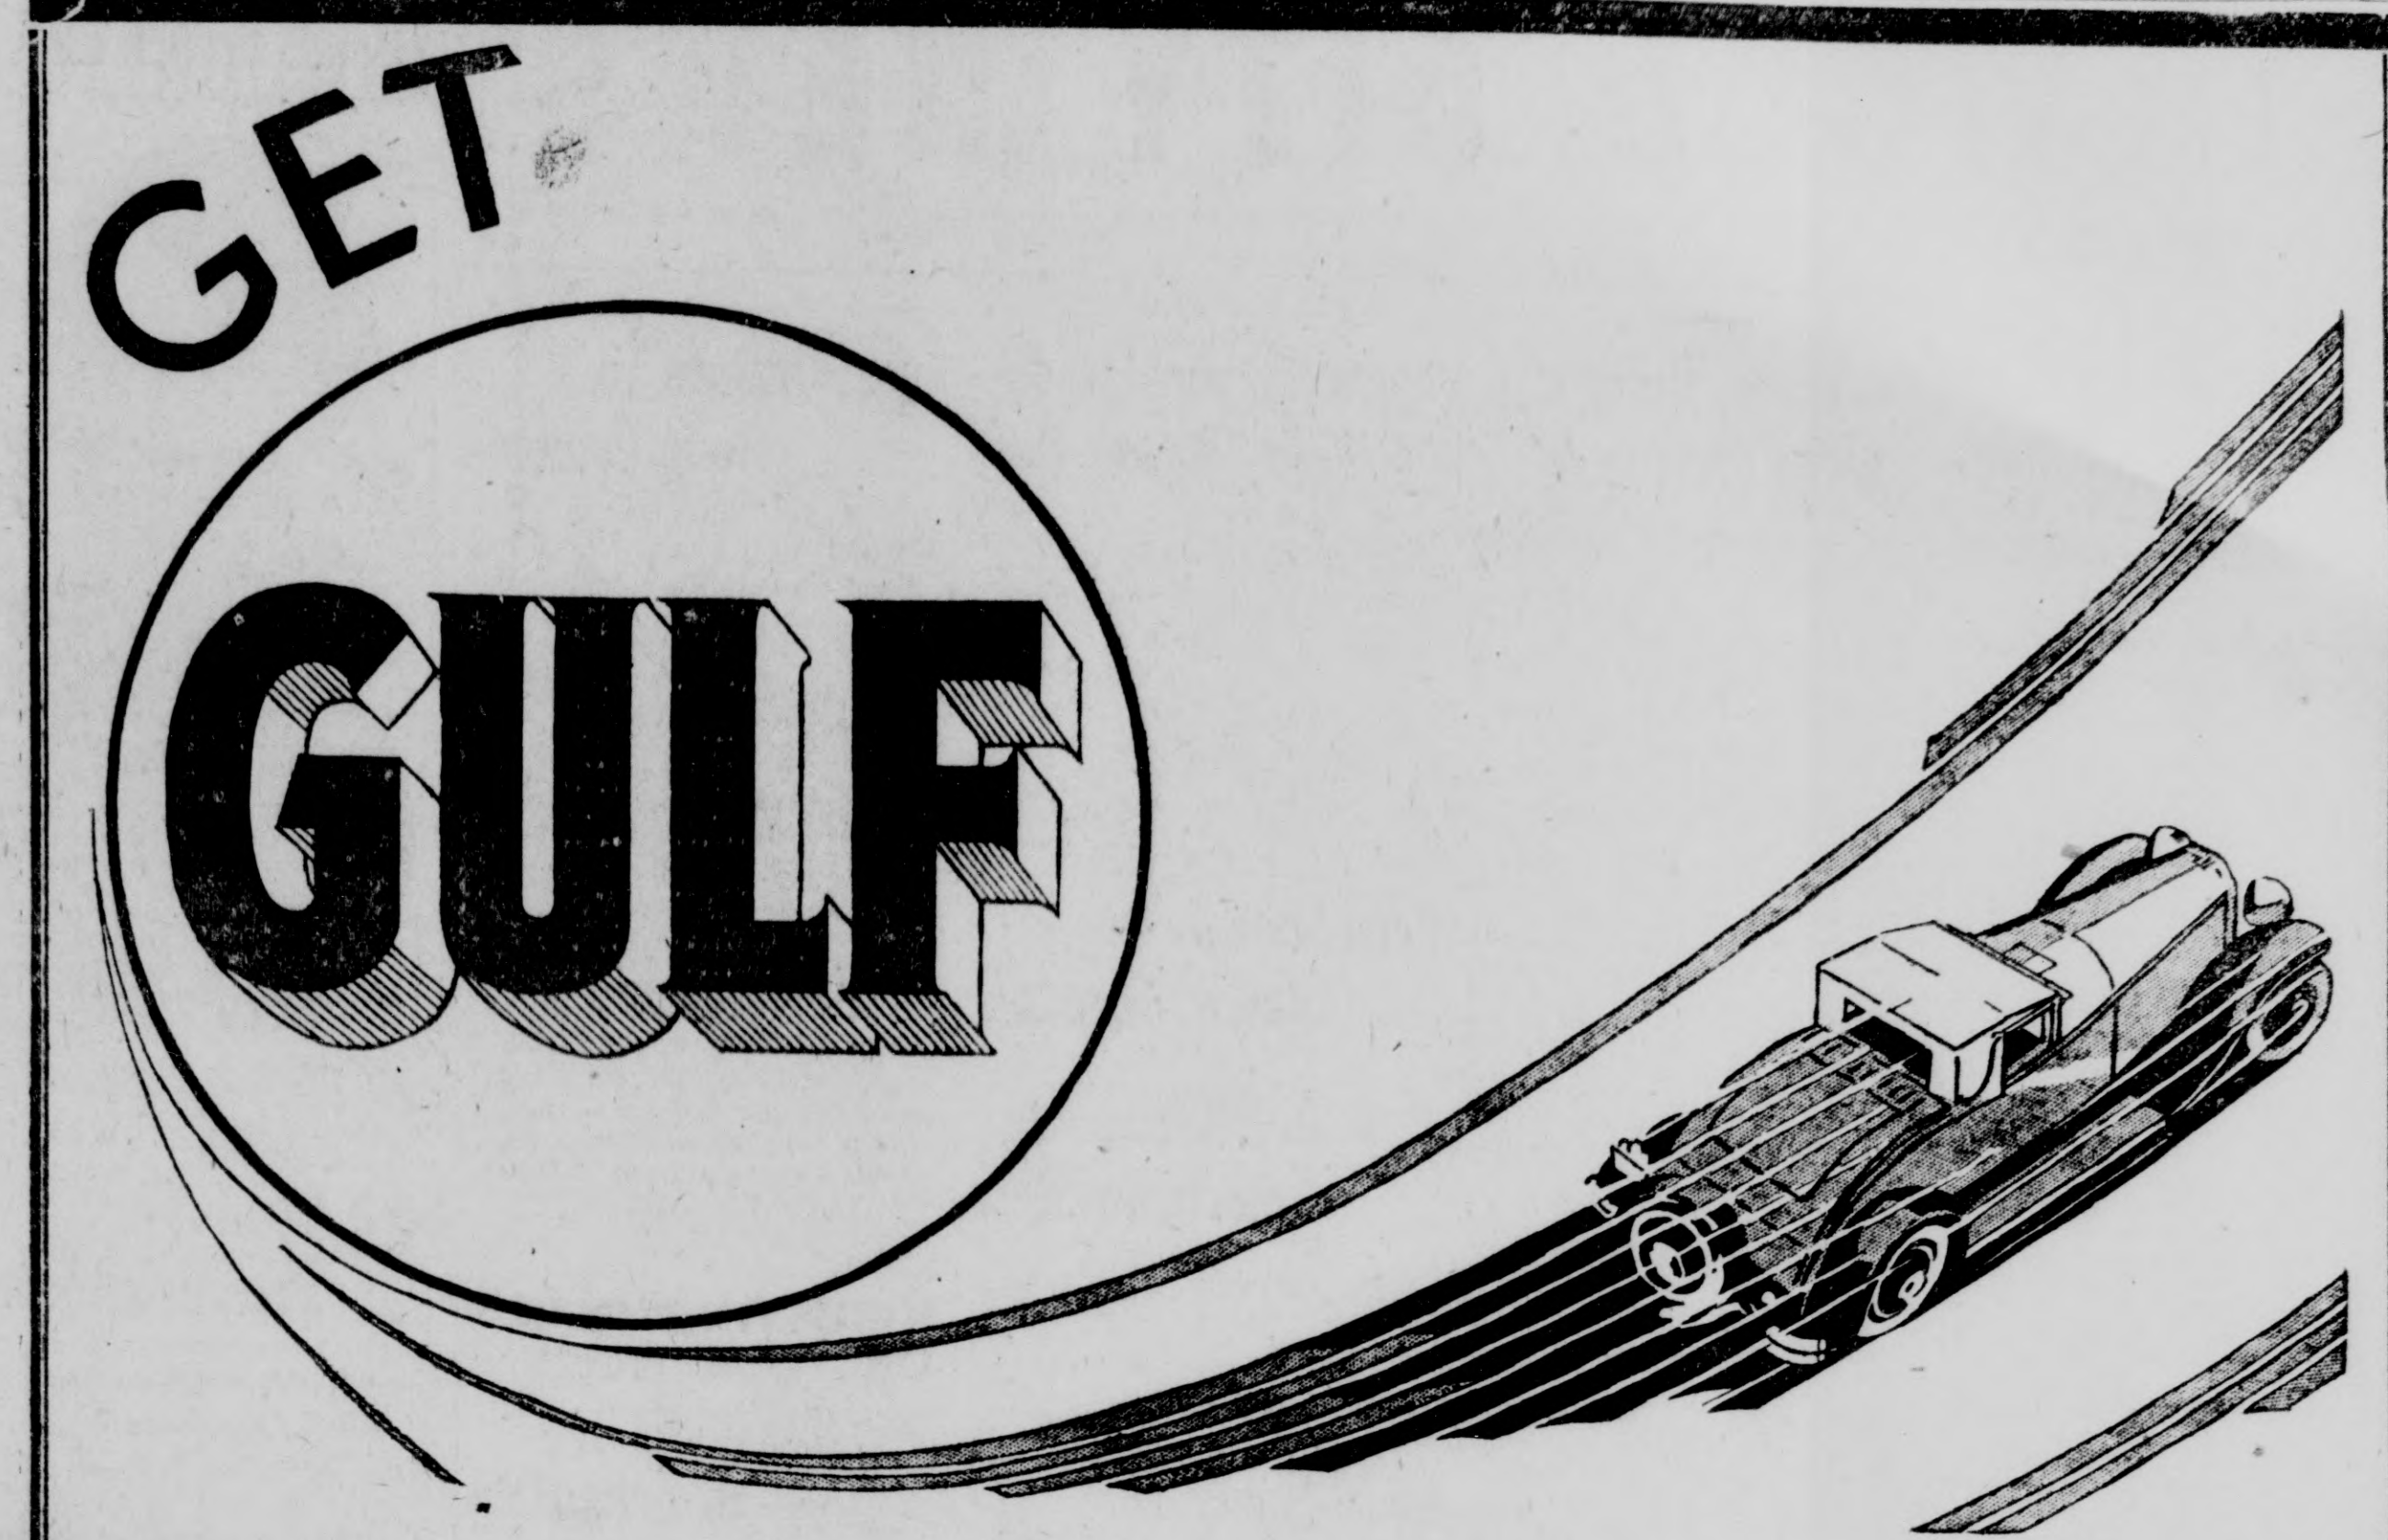

ASKS NEW TRIAL
The testimony in the action of larceny against J. W. Cameron of Wolf-Creek township has been written out and was filed yesterday. Cameron found guilty asks a new trial. He was charged with chicken stealing and found guilty. He was tried at the October sessions of 1929.

HEARING ON BUS LINE
A hearing will be held in Erie on the date of April 9 when the petition of the West Ridge Transportation Company to take over the Greenville-Mercer Bus Line will be heard. The present owner of the selling line Harry Blake of Fredonia will continue in the employment of the buying company. He has been in charge of this line for 7 years. It is the intention of the West Ridge company to schedule four round trips a day between Mercer and Erie.

FINDS BIG EGG
William Jennings of near Mercer reports gathering among his other hen eggs of Sunday one measuring 8½ inches in circumference. The egg measured 5½ inches in length. The hen responsible for laying this mastodon relic died Jennings relates. His attention was called to the hen and egg by the uproar in the hen house prefacing the event.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

Spanish women who use lorgnettes, may stare at you all they please and it is not considered rude—not if they use the lorgnettes.

A blonde young woman with her husband on deck of an ocean liner, getting the benefit of sunshine and ocean breezes. In the husbands arms was a poodle, lying there in perfect comfort, with no complaint in the world.

The dog looked up devotedly into his masters' face now and then, and I stopped to ask about him. Seems they had a baby and it died and they felt so badly they got the poodle to fill the void in the little wife's heart. It was eleven years old now, and no longer spy, but it had lived in a bed of roses. Rheumatism was arriving. Its menu would have made you giggle. Regular shampoos and all that. And as I leaned close to give the little dog a good look, the man said to the dog: "Look darling, is that your grandma?"

The pup wouldn't commit himself.

A lady from Texas, asks me to please send her the baby I wrote about, because she wishes to "raise it," and will I please send it by parcel post to the rural free delivery number, in care of the mail clerk. The lady is 71.

"Bertha" writes me that her mother is feeble minded and for that reason her father and mother are divorced. She is fifteen and for two years things have been so humiliating she can't stand it much longer. The mother does "such foolish things."

That is tragic Bertha. Can't you consult juvenile court authorities and ask their advice? They might be able to help you. I know how you feel. Your father should be concerned. Won't he help? If the juvenile judge can't help you he will advise. I'm sorry. Wish I might do more.

Rod And Gun Club Sees Champion Rifle Shot, On Tuesday

Champion Shot Bob Limbert Gives Fine Sports Performance
Before Huge Crowd Here

ELLWOOD CITY, April 2.—The Lincoln school gymnasium was packed and many were standing last night to witness the performance of Bob Limbert, champion rifle shot of the world, who was brought here under the auspices of the Ellwood City Rod and Gun Club.

Mr. Limbert opened his show with numerous stories of tenderfoot recruits, and told of how he and his pals bagged mountain bear. He then demonstrated his skill with a regulation revolver and a short barrel two inch revolver, and was equally quick and accurate with both in hitting a moving target in the bull's eye, before it hit the floor.

Several state patrol were present, and examined the various rifle arms, and approved them. Mr. Limbert stood on his head and broke two targets, he cut a business card in half, from the fine edge; he put out a lighted candle without touching the tallow part; he and a state patrol had a little act in which the police was to draw a gun and fire on Limbert. Before the officer could get his gun leveled, Limbert grabbed the barrel, rendering him helpless.

The entire performance was most interesting to the large crowd. He will be in New Castle later for a demonstration. The next meeting of the Rod and Gun Club will take place April 14 in the American Legion room. Although not a year old, the Rod and Gun club has almost 300 members.

Pupils To Receive Inneculation Here

ELLWOOD CITY, April 2.—The pupils of the local schools will receive shots of toxin anti-toxin for the prevention of diphtheria about the middle of this month. The serum is furnished by the State free of charge, and only those pupils who have the consent of their parents, will receive the injections. Slips of paper bearing information concerning the serum are being sent to the parents, and when those slips are signed and returned to the school authorities, the injections will be given.

The state and county health associations have endorsed the inoculations which were performed here last year. School authorities request that the parents sign the required slips as soon as possible, so that the work may be speeded up. Dr. Evans, the school physician, asserts that one person in every hundred is often times a diphtheria carrier; that is, that people may carry the germ in the nose and throat and unknowingly infect others, while perfectly well themselves.

FUNERAL SERVICES—ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., April 2.—Funeral services for Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Shiedemantle, whose death occurred at her home in Summit Avenue Sunday afternoon, were held yesterday afternoon from the late home, with Rev. W. E. McInteer pastor of the United Presbyterian church officiating. Burial was made in Locust Grove cemetery.

Wakeful Nights From Indigestion

Nothing wears you out more quickly than a period of wakeful, restless nights or fitful slumber marred by unpleasant dreams. The cause is often digestive disturbance and the remedy is a little "Bisurated" Magnesia after the last meal or before going to bed. This calms the stomach, neutralizes excess acid, banishes the fermenting unrest and induces healthy, restful slumber by the sensible means of producing peaceful normal digestion. "Bisurated" Magnesia is obtainable at any good drug store in either powder or tablet form and a simple trial will prove its value beyond question.

Seek Agents For Detective Agency

Local Resident Claims Men Solicited Fraudulently In Name Of A. A. A.

Complaint was made to Secretary B. N. Hanlon of the New Castle Motor Club, that two men representing themselves to be agents of a Motor Aide, Service, were in New Castle soliciting business, under the name of the American Automobile Association.

Andrew B. Fauzey of Chestnut street, told Mr. Hanlon that two men approached him, stating that they were soliciting memberships in the A. A. A. and in addition, were offering the services of the agency extra, the price for the two services being $29.50. Mr. Fauzey stated that he believed at first that the men were bona fide agents of the A. A. A. but later became convinced they were not and only paid them $5.00.

They claimed that the agency maintained a nationwide service, assisting in recovery of stolen cars and offering towing service, and many other things.

While they may have a bonafide detective agency as claimed, they are not affiliated in any way with the New Castle Motor Club or the A. A. A. and the police have been asked to be on the lookout for the pair for obtaining money under false pretense.

Fromm Refuses To Quit Office

Canton Man Refuses To Heed Order That He Vacate Office

(International News Service)
CANTON, O., April 2.—Under sentence of imprisonment, ordered by the judge to vacate his position, Charles H. Fromm, president of the board of Stark county commissioners, today refused to quit the office, although his successor, Bert L. Paine had moved in.

Fromm was under sentence of from eighteen months to ten years in Ohio penitentiary for soliciting a bribe of $400 from a Cleveland salesman. He was sentenced in Cleveland by Judge Irvin Carpenter of Norwalk.

The tenacious politician refused to heed the judge's decision that he vacate the office, asserting he was an official of Stark county until his appeal to the state supreme court was ruled on. The court of appeals recently upheld the findings of the common pleas court in which Fromm was tried. "I won't resign" Fromm stated, "until officials agree to pay me the three months salary that was ordered held up, or when the supreme court hands down its ruling."

Patrol Members Teach Safety To School Children

HARRISBURG, April 2.—Attaches of the State Highway Patrol continue to give brief lectures before students of Pennsylvania high and grade schools. This added patrol duty resulted from a request submitted by Dr. J. A. H. Keith of the Department of Public Instruction. It is the belief of Supt. W. C. Price of the Patrol that the idea of safety should be sold to youngsters, at least to the extent that it effects them as they go to and from school. Instructions given are from a pedestrian standpoint. According to Capt. Price it is the younger element that is attempting to "burn up the highways" by fast and reckless driving. This, of course, is unknown to the parents of the boy and girl and apparently remains a secret until the individual runs afoul of the law, when of course it is entirely too late.

High School Gridders Start Spring Training

Coach P. H. Bridenbaugh Begins Training Work

Forty-Six Boys Hold Practice On Tuesday At Taggart Field

Despite Drizzle Of Rain Track Candidates Trot Around Cinder Path

Forty-six husky football candidates for the New Castle high school 1936 grid team started the annual spring training season on Tuesday afternoon at Taggart field, despite a continuous drizzle of rain. Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh after glancing over the material, which looks green, sent the boys through calisthenics to loosen up the muscles. "Charging through the line" was the next thing the coach showed the boys. The candidates worked for a while and then did a few laps around the cinder path, and Coach Bridenbaugh called it a day. Training will be held daily until the weather becomes too warm.

Out of this group of hopefuls Coach Bridenbaugh faces the task of building up an eleven for next season. Close to 200 boys have signed for spring training but due to the fact that only a small number can be equipped, the others will receive their chance to show their football ability either at camp late next summer or next fall. The material is plentiful at the high school this year, but what this material amounts to is another question.

This afternoon the boys will more than likely be given the same training "menu" that they received Tuesday afternoon. New Castle will need a rather strong team next season when one glances at the schedule. Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner has composed. With such team as Rayen, South, Washington and Scott of Toledo on the schedule one can see just what kind of a team the local high school will have to have if they expect a successful season.

Trackers Also Train. While the football players are doing their training on one side of Taggart field, close to 100 trackmen are daily trotting the cinder path in hope of acquiring a position on this year's track team. Coach William L. Klee, who is in charge of the boys, reports that the pacemakers are making good progress and are getting in good shape. In a short time preliminary races will be started and the boys who show up the best will be chosen to represent New Castle on the cinders.

It is predicted that by the middle of the month a team to represent the local high school will be chosen. As soon as spring training ends Coach Phil Bridenbaugh will have charge of the boys for the remainder of the track season.

NEW ORLEANS, April 2.—Admirers of the American League had new cause for rejoicing today. For the Cleveland Indians massacred the New York Giants in an exhibition game here yesterday, 8 to 2. Hudlin and Shoffner were the winning pitchers, while Pruett, Judd and Fitzsimmons were charged with the loose efforts from the Giant mound.

Amateur Floor Notes

After coping both the city and county midget basketball championships, the Carnegie Steel midgets are now calling a meeting at which it is planned to organize a baseball team. The following players are asked to report: J. Ross, P. Sledone, Sheldon, G. Ciambotti, P. Vignali, V. Gallagher, J. Campbell, D. LaRocco, D. DiCarlo, Raymond Must, L. DeGennaro, R. Paul, N. Ross, M. Perrett and F. Lombardo. The Carnegie team is out to win the baseball honors as they did last year.

Schwartz and Spartans Tied

Spartans of New York tied with Schwartz ballrooms, Hartford, for the lead among five man teams in the A. B. C. at Cleveland yesterday. Each team has a score of 2959. Other standings: Two man, J. Devine and G. Heup, Beloit, Wis., 1,339; Individual, Shotwell, Covington, Ky., 774 and All events, A. Gaudreau, Saginaw, Mich., 1,967.

Ten Teams Remain In Tourney Play

CHICAGO, April 2.—Triumphant over their success in the first day of championship play, six teams from Dixie today entered the second period of play in the National Interscholastic Basketball championship at University of Chicago.

All six of the southern teams won in yesterday's games whereas representatives of the east and middle west fared for the first. Four teams from each section were in the play and each group lost three and won one. The ten surviving teams in yesterday's play were from Illinois, Florida, Louisiana, New Jersey, Nevada, Georgia, Kentucky, Montana, South Carolina and West Virginia.

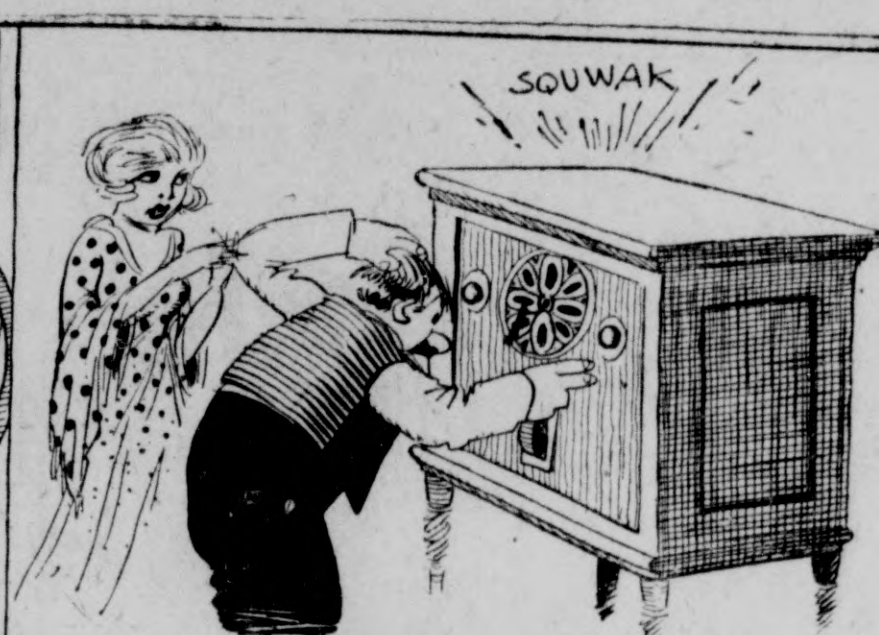

Jackie King To Do Light Work

Jackie King, who was to have fought Young Odell at Akron tonight in a four-round bout, will ease down in training as the Christner-Sekyra bout has been postponed until April 9. With two weeks under his belt Jackie ought to be in superb condition. He will box Eddie Flick here at 136 in the near future, according to a deal made yesterday.

Mushball Meeting Called Tonight

Organization Of Fast Industrial League Will Be Attempted Tonight

Tonight at 7 o'clock the managers of the various Mushball teams desiring to enter the Industrial League will meet at the New Castle News office with Charles "Bugs" Walther presiding. It is planned to open the season on or about May 1, and for that reason the meeting is being held tonight so that interest in the coming campaign can be stirred up.

So far there has been a fine response from the various teams in this city who desire to fight for the Mushball title. The mushball playing in New Castle got under way last year for the first time and the boys had a lot of fun. It is good exercise and affords the older men a chance to limber up during the summer. Mushball is fast replacing baseball in the various cities as the big sport of the summer. Mushball does not interfere with golf playing as the teams are scheduled only a couple a times each week.

The following teams have signified their intention of being present tonight: Lehigh Cement, Shenango Tin Mill, Firemen, Haney's, Phalanx, Bankers, News, Post Office, Penn-Olio Electric, Chain Stores, and Richmond Brothers. There is a second New team also ready to enter the league.

At the meeting tonight officers will be elected and a Board of Commission appointed to handle the schedule making and arrange for the season. Bring all your ideas for mushball to the meeting tonight.

ST. JOHN'S WINS. St. John's college, Annapolis, won from Oxford-Cambridge, a picked team, in lacrosse, 7-2 at Washington.

Wrestling Game Resumes Friday

Mitchell Will Wrestle Davidson In One Of The Eight Mat Bouts

JOHNSON TO BOX LEWISTOWN HEAVY

CHARLIE MITCHELL

Grappling has been a dead letter in New Castle for a decade but Friday night mat fans will have a chance to see 16 of the catch-as-catch-can athletes in action when the P. R. R. wrestling and boxing championships are held.

The meet is sponsored by the P. R. R. system athletic heads and Post 343 American Legion and judging from the interest displayed in the contest it looks as though wrestling fans will join the exponents of Hit and Miss.

Among the wrestlers will be Charlie Mitchell of Buffalo, a middleweight. He will grapple with Davidson of Tyrone. Mitchell will represent the West in which the E. & A. division is located. Davidson will wrestle for the East.

Many boxing fans are also awaiting the appearance of Chet Johnson, the Buffalo heavyweight pugilist who will take on Eddie Confer of the Lewistown. Chet has the class, likewise Confer and offers have been made for them to turn pro.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Suey Walsh of Akron, has taken over the management of Knockout Christian, according to Tom Lennon, former manager. Welsh was instrumental in putting the big boy in the way of bouts that later brought him prestige and a fortune.

Phil Tobias will not be able to box Frenchy Bellanger here April 14, as Tobias suspension for an unintentional foul at Jamaica, Ill., will not be ended by that time, according to Bob Levy in a telegram from Brooklyn today.

There will be two hours and 24 minutes of action when the P. R. R. finals are held here Friday night. There will be 72 minutes of boxing and the same time allotted to wrestling.

The boxing bouts will each go three minutes and each wrestling bout, nine minutes. This means that the boys will cram all they have in the short time they are in the ring. Ordinary shows consume 84 minutes.

According to Lou Gleason, Joe Louder, Frankie Moran and Johnny Haggerty have tough matches. Louder battles Sabatol of Long Island. Haggerty meets Delano, New York and Morgan fights Crisco, Bristol.

The wrestling matches should produce a lot of excitement. The amateurs go to it from the minute the bell rings. A wrestling referee will be brought here and a wrestlers mat has been arranged for by the P. R. R.

The New York boxing commission has sanctioned a Sharkey-Schmelling bout for New York city, June 12. The bout will be something of a benefit as receipts will go to the Milk Fund show.

Inaugural handicap, $5,000, seven furlongs, feature event at the opening of Bowie track yesterday was won by Pocarone, Cimerak up. Pennant Lass was second and Start O'Morra, third. The time 1:25 4-5.

The pick of the country's amateur swimmers will start after the National A. U. championship and records this afternoon at the Lake Shore Athletic club, Chicago.

Impressive workouts were held yesterday at Wheeling in preparation for the trot meet which opens Wednesday. Adam's Apple stepped the three fifties in 40. Tetra Glass and Vinlin have been shipped to the track.

New Castle Bowlers At Cleveland Today

Sol-Rees Of Seventh Ward Are Entered Today In A. B. C. Tourney At Cleveland

(International News Service) CLEVELAND, O., April 2.—A Buffalo quintet, wearing the colors of the De Veso brothers, today had given competitors in the five-man event of the American Bowling Congress here a new score at which to shoot. They smashed out a 2,976 in yesterday's nightcap session to go into first place in the five-man standings, 17 pins ahead of the previous leaders, the New York Spartans and the Schwartz Ballrooms of Hartford, Wis.

Pennsylvania will be represented in tonight's five-man attack by teams from New Castle, Kane and Erie.

Need Two More Teams In Loop

Two Franchises Open In Lawrence County League For Fast Teams

Eddie Connery, secretary of the Lawrence County League, informed The News today that the plans for the coming season were going along nicely, but that the league was shy two fast teams. There are four teams at present holding franchises.

The four teams lined up for the year are—Italian A. A. Wampum, Hillsville, Bessemer, West Pittsburg. It is now hoped that two fast teams from New Castle will decide to enter the league making it a real representative Lawrence County League.

Croton it is understood would like to join the league and they would be welcome to do so, if they will call Eddie Connery. The same holds true for any other fast club wanting to play with strong teams this year. The P. R. R. is undecided yet on putting in a team.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 2.—The Cincinnati Reds pulled one out of the fire here when they downed the Atlanta Crackers, by a 9-to-7 score yesterday. Tony Cucinello, rookie, put the Reds back in the running in the sixth when he slammed out a three-bagger with the bases loaded.

THE SECRET IS IN THE BLEND

You'll find no fancy trimmings to El Producto—just quality tobaccos blended to give a mild, distinctive and unchanging character—and made into generous sizes that most smokers appreciate.

That blend is the secret of El Producto's popularity—it's a blend that cannot be duplicated and, what's more, never varies.

And that is one reason why El Producto is a big favorite in every size—be it 10c, 2 for 25c, or 3 for 50c.

"THE DUCHESS OF CHICHESTER'S GOAT CART!"

BAWLED BERTRAM the BOUNCER.

"My man," reproved the Duchess, "it is seldom that I speak directly to a menial, but those rasping, grinding tones were more fitting for peddling fish than announcing my coach-and-four."

"A thousand pardons, Milady," replied Bertram humbly, "but what am I to do?"

"Smoke OLD GOLDS, fellow! The honey-smooth heart-leaf tobacco will change your growls of a grizzly to the amorous cooings of a pretty pigeon. Throat-ease follows this smoother and better cigarette as hounds follow the scent. Away with you, and OLD GOLD yourself! There's not a bark in a billion."

Davis Walsh Picks Cubs As Repeaters In National League

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service
Sports Editor
Copyright, 1930, By International News Service

NEW YORK, April 2.—Rated strictly off the current face value of its field, the National League figures to sponsor in 1930 the first repeating champion it has known in six years—not because the Chicago Cubs have a fool-proof ball club but only because the man doesn't live who can logically name a team that ought to beat them.

The Cubs have the pitching; they have the hitting. When they combine this pair, baseball usually is content to pay all dividends without further demer.

The Cubs apparently have lost little of the momentum they knew in 1929 and it even appears that they are going to be stronger at third base largely because they can't be weaker.

Of course, the Cubs' weakness is a defensive infield that has more holes than a coffee strainer but, with the active contenders, the Giants and Pirates, also unable to answer their infield questions satisfactorily, the matter of definite importance. The Pirates, in fact, have much the same problem that confronts the Cardinals. Each has pitchers who aren't what they once were; each has one side of the infield that needs a job of weather-stripping.

The Dodgers are the official dark horse this time. They have an infield for the first time in many years, a fact that ought to make Vance and the other pitchers look better than usual. They have a punch at the plate and, with lots of reserve strength, they may get away running and forget to stop.

The writer has placed them fourth because their outfield and catching defenses are hardly championship or near-championship material.

The Phillies ought to be much better for another year together but I notice that their pitchers still can't get the other side out in the southern camps and it is difficult to see such a club finishing in the first division in a race like this. The Reds, with their conglomerate array of hitters who can't field and fielders who can't hit, would seem to be natural second division stuff, particularly with the old pitching strength ebbing. The Braves themselves don't expect to finish higher than eighth, so I feel that I need no excuse for placing them there.

Only Guessing.

1. Chicago; 2. New York; 3. Pittsburgh; 4. Brooklyn; 5. Philadelphia; 6. St. Louis; 7. Cincinnati; 8. Boston.

This, of course, comes under the head of controversial dynamic, as all personal opinion will and must. Somebody has said that the only difference between a reader and an expert is that the latter is forced to do his guessing in public and, frankly, when anybody attempts to forecast in April what he thinks will happen the following September he is getting somewhat away from concrete evidence and invading the realm of whimsy.

Cards to Crumble.
In line with the latter, is the supposition that the Cardinals have aged too long in the wood and are about to crumble and fall apart.

When you begin to fall so hard that you won't even bounce, sixth place is a long way from the club that won two pennants in the last four years and was runner-up in 1927. However, they went from first to fourth last year and the line of flight henceforth would seem to be downward, particularly with the supposed improvement of the Phillies and Dodgers. This, in the light of later developments, also may turn out to be mere fancy.

As for facts, we have the following: On the first three clubs named, the Giants have been only three out of the first division in some 20 of the last 30 years and, over the same period, the Pirates have been in the second division just four times. Thus the law of averages, about which the boys love to prate, when you add the fact that the trio in question is admittedly the potential class of its field, you can't go far wrong in placing them one-two-three.

The Giants are an excellent "hunch" bet because they are due for about the best pitching in the league and they have a punch. But no team that doesn't know its own second baseman from day to day can expect to win a pennant. They are gambling at the moment on a young man by the name of Marshall, who may or may not do. If he doesn't, it will be too bad. The outfield isn't anybody's inspiration but it probably will suffice. The Giants aren't a bad bet at the proper odds.

Weak in Infield.

Training Camps Briefs

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Calif., April 2.—The Chicago Cubs, smarting under a 13 to 12 defeat suffered at the hands of the Angels here, today resolved that rookie pitching is not sufficient to see them through.

Three youngsters, George Bell, Lynn Nelson and Al Shealy, hurled yesterday's game. The Angels fell on Nelson for four runs.

DALLAS, Texas, April 2.—Having taken three laces in a row, the Chicago White Sox today had reversed the custom and given the Dallas Steers a 7 to 1 lacing.

Arthur Shires, in his first full game of the season, started out slowly and warmed. He walked the first time, then fled out to right and shortstop, and wound up with a slashing single and double.

MACON, Ga., April 2.—After knocking over the Montreal International league club in two successive games the Daytona Beach, the Detroit Tigers were here today for their 3rd game against the Brooklyn Robins. The Tigers won yesterday's game 7 to 6.

In their previous encounters the Tigers and Robins split even, but the Tigers have been going so well in their recent games that they expect to win.

MACON, Ga., April 2.—Inspired by an 18 to 4 win yesterday over the Jacksonville Tars, the Brooklyn Robins were to meet the Detroit Tigers here today in an exhibition game. The terrific beating of the Tars unfolded a near masterpiece in pitching by young Phelps of the Robins, who pitched five innings, allowing only one hit.

AUSTIN, Tex., April 2.—"Life is like that" was the thought of Cedric Durst today. Austin is the home town of the Yankee outfielder and when the local fans watched the Yanks defeat the University of Texas yesterday, 4 to 2, Cedric failed to reach first in five opportunities. However, he gracefully accepted a traveling bag offered by the home town boys.

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 2.—The Athletics go to the post again today in another game on the northward trip, meeting the Columbia team in a contest here this afternoon.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., April 2.—The Phillies depart for Philadelphia today, leaving about noon. They expect to arrive at their home base late Thursday.

Betty Abernathy Wins Over Louise Fordyce

Betty Abernathy sprung a surprise in the women's North and South golf tournament at Pinehurst yesterday when she defeated Louise Fordyce of Youngstown 8 and 7. Louise played championship golf for the first nine, turning in a 38.

Since Meusel left the Yanks, Charlie Jamieson, of the Indians, is the best pitcher in the league and they have a punch. But no team that doesn't know its own second baseman from day to day can expect to win a pennant. They are gambling at the moment on a young man by the name of Marshall, who may or may not do. If he doesn't, it will be too bad. The outfield isn't anybody's inspiration but it probably will suffice. The Giants aren't a bad bet at the proper odds.

Weak in Infield.
Of course, the Cubs' weakness is a defensive infield that has more holes than a coffee strainer but, with the active contenders, the Giants and Pirates, also unable to answer their infield questions satisfactorily, the matter of definite importance. The Pirates, in fact, have much the same problem that confronts the Cardinals. Each has pitchers who aren't what they once were; each has one side of the infield that needs a job of weather-stripping.

The Dodgers are the official dark horse this time. They have an infield for the first time in many years, a fact that ought to make Vance and the other pitchers look better than usual. They have a punch at the plate and, with lots of reserve strength, they may get away running and forget to stop.

The writer has placed them fourth because their outfield and catching defenses are hardly championship or near-championship material.

The Phillies ought to be much better for another year together but I notice that their pitchers still can't get the other side out in the southern camps and it is difficult to see such a club finishing in the first division in a race like this. The Reds, with their conglomerate array of hitters who can't field and fielders who can't hit, would seem to be natural second division stuff, particularly with the old pitching strength ebbing. The Braves themselves don't expect to finish higher than eighth, so I feel that I need no excuse for placing them there.

Only Guessing.
Therefore, the following would seem to be fair estimate of the field:

1. Chicago; 2. New York; 3. Pittsburgh; 4. Brooklyn; 5. Philadelphia; 6. St. Louis; 7. Cincinnati; 8. Boston.

This, of course, comes under the head of controversial dynamic, as all personal opinion will and must. Somebody has said that the only difference between a reader and an expert is that the latter is forced to do his guessing in public and, frankly, when anybody attempts to forecast in April what he thinks will happen the following September he is getting somewhat away from concrete evidence and invading the realm of whimsy.

Cards to Crumble.
In line with the latter, is the supposition that the Cardinals have aged too long in the wood and are about to crumble and fall apart.

When you begin to fall so hard that you won't even bounce, sixth place is a long way from the club that won two pennants in the last four years and was runner-up in 1927. However, they went from first to fourth last year and the line of flight henceforth would seem to be downward, particularly with the supposed improvement of the Phillies and Dodgers. This, in the light of later developments, also may turn out to be mere fancy.

As for facts, we have the following: On the first three clubs named, the Giants have been only three out of the first division in some 20 of the last 30 years and, over the same period, the Pirates have been in the second division just four times. Thus the law of averages, about which the boys love to prate, when you add the fact that the trio in question is admittedly the potential class of its field, you can't go far wrong in placing them one-two-three.

The Giants are an excellent "hunch" bet because they are due for about the best pitching in the league and they have a punch. But no team that doesn't know its own second baseman from day to day can expect to win a pennant. They are gambling at the moment on a young man by the name of Marshall, who may or may not do. If he doesn't, it will be too bad. The outfield isn't anybody's inspiration but it probably will suffice. The Giants aren't a bad bet at the proper odds.

Windmills vs. Wallopers

Constant punching fighters, known to boxing fans as windmills, often win championships but never the tremendous popularity of the knock-out-dead wallopers. The late Harry Greb is still the beau ideal of ring windmills and the dusky Tigers Flow-ers, also known to "green pastures," were scarcely less so. These boys thrived through their all but tireless blizzards of blows. They hit with both fists from all angles, operating always on the Napoleonic theory that "the best defense is a vigorous offense."

And now the windmill wreaths of Greb and Flowers can smile approval on two current top-notchers at least, Jackie Kid Berg and Maxie Rosenbloom, one of a rip-snorting lightweight from (believe-it-or-not, Bob Ripley!) England, and the other a great light heavy familiar from birth with his native New York Yiddish patter. Berg and Rosenbloom are genuine title prospects—surging whirlwinds from bell to bell in all their combats for more than a year. Jackie Fields, welter king, is in this windmill set, too.

But the fans prefer the sockerino sensations such as Al Singer who stands astride Berg's championship path and the Nubian knockerout, Larry Johnson, whose fearsome shadow falls athwart Rosenbloom's road to the throne even though the dark dynamite lost to Maxie on a foul recently. Singer and Johnson repeatedly have demonstrated their K. O. shots. So has Jimmy McLarnin, another smashing crowd pleaser. Their wallops usually win, yet some of the best of that type never can get by the classy whirlwinds of the Greb-Flowers-Rosenbloom-Berg order. Think of what "Slapsie Maxie" has done to such slugging hombres as Ace Hudkins, Jimmy Braddock and Leo Lomski; and have a mind to how Berg boxed rings around all the T. N. T. that Tony Canzoneni exploded in thin air a couple of months ago.

The bolt of lightning usually can do far less damage than the tornado or hurricane, but to the average spectator the sudden blasting flash is far more spectacular. Hence, the mob prefers the K. O. producers to the riveting-machine ringsters.

CHARLEY'S longest after-dinner speech is said to have occurred in training camp. It's rumored he pushed forward his polished plate, cleared his throat and said, "More, please."

Child Is Killed; Mother Injured; Struck By Truck

PITTSBURGH, April 2.—Five year old Ruth Schultz was dead today, and her mother Mrs. Emma Schultz, 23, was critically injured at southside hospital, after both were struck by an auto truck as they were walking in the road.

The little girl was killed almost instantly and was pronounced dead upon her arrival at the hospital.

The pair were struck by a truck driven by Adrian Fredericks, who was arrested and held pending charges of the coroner maintained he did not see the couple until he was almost upon them and was then unable to halt the machine.

Bobby Jones Is Tourney Winner

Great Atlanta Golfer Has Score Of 284 In Augusta
Tourney To Lead
Field

By TOBE EDWARDS
International News Service Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 2.—They were still talking in raptures about what would have happened to the Forest Hills-Ricker course record if Bobby Jones, the world's greatest golfer, hadn't nonchalantly scored a 6 on par 3 No. 16.

But even the peerless amateur went behind a tree and chipped into a trap on the No. 16, Jones smashed through with a sub-par 284 for the 72 holes of the tourney, finishing 13 strokes ahead of young Horton Smith, the hope of the professionals.

The newly-signed Cragston-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., professional, who finished with a 297 to lead the scintillating array of money performers, took the first whack at the $5,000 tournament spoils. Ed. Dudley, Wilmington, Del., who swept through with a 68 to set a new course record during the morning round fell into third place with a 152-68-78-298.

Lee Fowler, fellow townsman of Jones, finished with a 308 to be next high man to the Atlanta golfer-attorney in the amateur ranks. The golfing tailor was right with his iron shots and played with great gusto on the last night.

Jones dealt out one of the most conclusive defeats ever recorded in an open championship and his 72-72-69-71-284 served notice upon the nomad tribe of pros that while they may trim him by a stroke or so once in a while, they can't make a regular habit of it.

State Owned Cow Herd Establishes Production Mark

HARRISBURG, April 2.—Allentown State Hospital with fifty-one cows in its dairy herd leads all herds in the county with the highest milk production per cow for the year ending March 1, 1930, according to announcement of the Lehigh County Cow Testing Association. The herd also ranked first in the herds of the county with the production of butter fat reaching 338.7 pounds per cow for the year.

The average production per cow in milk was 10,616 pounds for the year. The cow testing association cites the fact that this high production of milk is all the more noteworthy because of the fact that the herd was large and therefore every cow had to attain a high average to prevent the herd average from falling down.

The high milk production and the fact that the production of butter fat averaged more than 300 pounds per cow assures recognition of the herd by the National Dairy Association which confers distinction upon all herds of dairy cattle whose productions reach the mark attained by the Allentown herd.

R. Bruce Dunlap, agriculturist in citing the record of the Allentown Hospital herd in a report to Mrs. E. S. H. McCauley, State Secretary of Welfare, under whose department the hospital is listed, indicated that the dairy herds of the several State institutions have all registered among the leaders in the counties in which the institutions are located. Many of them have led all competitors.

Dunlap in his report to Mrs. McCauley, calls attention to the fact that in many of the institutions only registered cattle comprise the herds and an effort is being made to purchase only registered stock where new animals are needed for the herds. The production, Dunlap says, has warranted this procedure and scientific control of the herds has more than repaid the institutional farms for the money and effort expended.

There seems to be general agreement that France is sassy enough now without a guarantee that others will help fight her battles.

Stefansson, the arctic explorer, has purchased a farm. He probably will find polar exploration safer.

BURIED ALIVE

Victims of Rheumatism, With Stiffened Joints and Racked With Pain, Suffer a Living Death

Mr. Andrew Buick, Beaver Falls, Pa., describes his recovery from this pitiable condition in the following letter:

"For years I suffered with Rheumatism, in the legs, arms and one shoulder. I grew worse and worse. The time came when I rarely could leave the house. My joints were stiff, swollen and inflamed, and I was tortured with racking pain for a large part of every day and night. My friends dropped away and I became like a man buried alive and longing for death to end my suffering. A kindly neighbor told my daughter about 'World's Tonic' and how the helpful power of plants grown in their natural state are preserved in this famous new remedy. Until this time no medicine had I had ever taken that had been of any real help. But I realized that it was my patient medicines are too often nothing more than mere chemical extracts. So when I learned that 'World's Tonic' is different, in this important way, I decided to try it.

"The results were amazing. At the end of the first week the pain had left my blood, and the inflammation in my joints had left me. I was still quite stiff but I suffered no pain. Gradually as I kept on using 'World's Tonic' the stiffness seemed to melt away. My stomach, which had also given me a lot of pain, strengthened, and I developed a fine appetite for good hearty food. In the second month I gained twenty pounds in weight, and after a few weeks more I felt like my old self again.

"I will never cease to be thankful for 'World's Tonic' which has made me a new man. I always will recommend it to my neighbors and friends, for I am sure that they will be benefited when they use it.

"World's Tonic is on sale at Eckerd's, McKee's, Paisley's, Smith's and all other modern drug stores. (A-67)

Recalls Rivalry Of Stage Coach Lines To Make Fast Time

HARRISBURG, April 2.—Appearance in widely circulated national weeklies of advertisements calling attention to transcontinental bus lines which traverse Pennsylvania reminded General Edward Martin, State Treasurer, that at one time four companies operated stages on the National Pike, then called the Cumberland road, a leading avenue of East-West travel.

"The companies engaged in staging on the old pike," said General Martin, "were the National Line, Good Intent, June Bug, and the Pioneer. No one now living recalls how the 'June Bug' Line received its name. Relays were established at a distance of from ten to twelve miles, and there are some records of quick changing that would make a modern Jehu turn green with envy. An old driver still boasts of harnessing his four horses in four minutes, and of changing teams before the stage ceased rocking. Ponderous trunks were strictly forbidden, each passenger being limited to fifty pounds of baggage, and there was careful weighing in those days. Each stage's complement consisted in not more than nine passengers. As many as fourteen coaches have traveled together with the 100-odd passengers. If there was a mail coach among them, the 'too, too' of the driver's horn added to the gaiety of the scene; and when a wayside inn was reached, and the passengers disembarked for refreshments, what joyful recognition, uncorking of bottles, and the like were there!"

Mail Service

"In those days through mail coaches left Wheeling at 6 a. m., and twenty-four hours later dashed into Cumberland, Md., having traversed a distance of 132 miles. Occasionally there were delays, but these were not permissible upon the completion of the Baltimore and Ohio road to Cumberland.

A way mail coach, which both deposited and received mail at all stations, left Wheeling at 7 a. m. each day. Despite its extra duties, it managed to overtake the through mail before entering Cumberland. Ohio river steamboats arrived at Wheeling as late as 10 a. m., with passengers booked for the train to leave Cumberland at 6 o'clock the next morning. One hundred and thirty-two miles up hill and down hill, fording rivers and crossing mountains, but connection must be made; and it was, though at a heavy cost to the company. Such fast trips,

Says Men Want Pals, Not Patients!

SHE was engaged! She was the happiest girl in the world. A round of teas and parties, a whirl of pleasure, and she began to wonder what was the matter. Too tired to go out—and he—was he becoming tired of her?

It was at this point that Miss Margaret Belden of Los Angeles woke up to the fact that something had to be done about it. "Men want pals, not patients," she writes. "I went right to my doctor. Do you know what he said? Rest—and Nujol!"

"With a prayer in my heart and Nujol in my medicine cabinet I began to fight back to being the healthy, robust, happy girl I had been before. Two months passed. No more tears—no more worrying, no more bad dreams. Today I beat him on the tennis court, and although he can out-swim me, I make him work doing it. It's good to be happy. It's good to be free, physically, and be able to share, any time, in sports or dancing or anything else with the one you love!"

Here's another one who has learned that the simplest and surest way to be well and full of good spirits is to clear the bodily poisons out of your system regularly. Not with powerful drugs, but normally, naturally, easily. Doctors and nurses recommend such a natural treatment as Nujol, because this crystal-clear liquid isn't a medicine at all! It can't harm even a little baby! It contains absolutely no drugs. It is simply internal lubrication that your body needs like any other machine. Good looks and good spirits—do they sell popularity? You know they do! Get a bottle of Nujol tonight in any drug store. Sold in sealed packages only—trademarked "Nujol." Insist on Nujol by name. It costs but a few cents—and it will make you feel like a million dollars.

Receives Sad News Of Brother's Death

Paul T. Hickling Dies At Asheville, North Carolina, During Morning

Harvey E. Hickling, of this city, received the sad news this morning of the death of his brother, Paul T. Hickling, aged 35, at Asheville, North Carolina. The brother had been ill for some time, suffering from the after effects of having been gassed while serving in the United States forces during the world war.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hickling, of Lisbon, Ohio, parents, of Paul, were notified several days ago of the critical condition of their son, and reached his bedside before he died.

In addition to the parents, and the brother in New Castle, the deceased is survived by his widow and son, Paul, and the following brothers and sisters, Frank, of Amsterdam, N. Y., Homer, of Salem, Ohio, Mrs. Nellie Holt, of Leontina, Ohio, and Mrs. Dave Evans, of Lisbon, Ohio.

Funeral arrangements are not completed, but the services will probably be held at Lisbon, on Friday.

Cripple Dives To Death In Niagara Cataract

Man, 55, Plunges Into Torrent
Few Feet Above American Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., April 2.—An unidentified man leaped into the Niagara river a few feet above the American falls and was swept over the cataract to certain death on the jagged rock 160 feet below. The suicide was witnessed only by George Burr, this city.

Burr said he noticed the man as he passed him and was struck by his peculiar actions. He turned and watched him as he climbed the iron guard rail quickly, ran down the slight incline and then plunged into the water. He described the victim as about 55 years old and lame.

A. T. & T. Ready To Start Work

As Soon As Legislation Is Enacted Cables Will Be Laid

E. H. Allen, in charge of right of way, New Castle district, A. T. & T. company today said that the construction of conduits for cables starting approximately at the East street city line and extending to the repeater station, New Castle-Youngstown line will be commenced as soon as legislation is enacted by city council.

Recently the A. T. & T. company's representative requested permission to construct the work through an alley running parallel with East Washington street and agreed to indemnify the city against damages and agreed to put the alley in as good if not better condition than at present. Legislation granting this is being prepared.

Today Mr. Allen was asked if the outlay would represent an expenditure of $65,000, and he said it would cost more.

"While the company lets the work out on contract the A. T. & T. watches it carefully and maintains a rigid inspection," said Allen.

"The company's representatives always to work with the least inconvenience to cities in which they have work."

Divorce Court Told Of Voices In Night

DETROIT, April 2.—Arthur Schroeder's wife talks in her sleep and Mrs. Hattie Neagle's husband sings "Old Black Joe" at 3 a. m.; so they both want divorces.

The situation in the Schroeder household is further complicated, Mr. Schroeder told Judge McMahon, by the fact that his wife has a lot to say, while sleeping about a fellow named Ray.

Mrs. Neagle says her husband stays out until 3 a. m. and then comes home—always in poor voice—singing "Old Black Joe."

Judge McMahon said it looked as though Mr. Schroeder and Mrs. Neagle had good grounds for divorce.
